OF GOLD LEADERS

Bragg and Buckner Favored for Leaders.

BUSY TIMES AT THE WASHINGTON HEADQUARTERS.

Both Sides Claim to Have Cheering Reports.

Washington, Aug. 22.—The Pennsylvania friends of William F. Harrity of the Democratic national committee do not believe that he will consent to have his name presented in the Indianapolis convention as a candidate for the presidency. For that reason they do not look with favor upon the suggestion made in Chicago, Washington and New York that Mr. Harrity of Pennsylvania and Daniel Lawler of Minnesota should constitute the Democratic gold standard ticket. Mr. Harrity himself declares he is out of politics, and will not discuss the matter, but those of his friends who are supporting the movement for a gold ticket claim that the strongest ticket that could be made would consist of a candidate from one of the northwestern states for the presidency, and one from the southern states for the vice presidency. The names of Bragg of Wisconsin and Buckner of Kentucky are regarded by them as particularly strong.

Senator Butler, chairman of the Populist committee, says that he has been receiving some very favorable reports from different states, where there have been disagreements between the Populists and Democrats, as to fusion on electors. It is now believed that the offer of the Populists in Texas, to take seven of the 15 electors, will be accepted. In West Virginia, the committees have about agreed upon a division, giving the Democrats four and the Populists two electors. It is also stated, that the chances of fusion in North Carolina have improved.

It was stated at Populist headquarters, that they believed the Idaho fusion would be arranged so as to give Silver Republicans a share of the offices, and an equal interest in the campaign, the electors to be divided among the three parties. The national Populist committee, it was stated, will insist upon this, and will be joined in it by the Democratic national committee.

Chairman Babcock had a call yesterday from a friend who had wheeled all the way from Chicago to New York, and then to Washington. The young man is the son of a Republican leader in Chicago, and he took an interest in the political situation in the various states through which he passed. He told Mr. Babcock that he found Republicans united and solid in Indiana. The same condition existed in northern Ohio, but in the southern part of the state he found considerable silver sentiment among the Republicans. In Delaware and New Jersey the Republicans said they were sure to win. In western New York he found a good deal of silver talk, even among Republicans. Upon the whole, he reported the outlook very favorable.

Secretary Gardner of the National Association of Democratic clubs, yesterday, received applications for membership in the national association from 34 new clubs, Virginia heading the list, each application, without exception, is accompanied with the statement that the membership includes men who have heretofore been identified with the Republican party. Some of these letters also note slight disaffection from Democratic ranks, but say it is very much less than the accessions.

There has been a notable increase in the demand on Democratic headquarters for literature, particularly for Mr. Bryan's New York and Chicago speeches.

New Jersey, Mr. Gardner says, is actively engaged in the preliminary steps of club organizations, the showing in Hunterton and Hudson counties being especially strong.

Many inquiries were received today, in relation to the St. Louis club convention, as to railroad rates, hotels, etc. Fully 1000 clubs, it is stated, will send full delegations to this convention.

Big Demand For Bryan.

Upper Red Hook, N. Y., Aug. 22.—Every indication here has been toward what is a settled fact that Candidate Bryan expects and has been assured of eastern support. Letters continued to pour in yesterday, asking him to speak at eastern points, and if the requests were heeded he could spend the entire time from now until election day in New York state. Mr. Bryan showed no surprise yesterday at the newspaper stories that the Democratic state organization had decided to support him. He did reflect a little bit upon the statement that Senator Hill had told Mr. Danforth that he would support and work for him (Mr. Bryan). He said in relation to that question: "It is not Senator Hill's custom to speak through others, and I doubt if Mr. Danforth gave out a statement purporting to be made by Senator Hill. The senator will probably make his own announcement."

2 O'CLOCK

THE LYNN STRIKE

Makes Trouble for the Non-Union Hands.

OVER 2000 PEOPLE FOLLOW FOUR WOMEN.

Several Arrests Made and Great Excitement.

Lynn, Mass., Aug. 22. — Fully 10,000 people, many of whom were prominent business men and lawyers, gathered in front of the T. G. Plant factory at 6 o'clock last night. The crowd seemed twice as great as ever before. The whole police force was on duty. The crowd broke up into sections and followed the non-union men to their houses.

Notwithstanding the vigilance of the police, several assaults were made. About 2000 people followed four women, who work in Plant's stitching room. One of the women was struck in the face by a stone and badly hurt. Robert D. Ramsdell, treasurer of the Plant company, got a taste of the mob's vengeance, as he was followed to his home by a large crowd, yelling and hooting at his every step. His house was surrounded, and three large windows were smashed with stones.

Frank Baicell, an Armenian non-union man, was arrested for profanity during the troublesome scene incident to his going to his boarding place. The crowd was pestering him until he turned and expressed his sentiments in profane language.

David Ireland was arrested for assault and George Purdee for disorderly conduct.

James A. White of Haverhill, a non-union man, was followed to his home by 12 men, and was forcibly pushed into an open field and beaten severely. He complained to the police.

One of the labor leaders claims to have in his possession a letter written by the Plant company to a man in Claremont, N. H., offering him $5 a head for every man he would ship to the factory to work in place of the strikers.

There are only 30 men in the whole factory now, and half as many women. Seven or eight men have agreed to come out. A general riot is anticipated. It is understood that Mayor Bessom will temporarily increase the police force.

Shocking Tragedy In Virginia.

Fredericksburg, Va., Aug. 22.—Dallas Bruce, a white man, who lives 25 miles from here, attended the recent Confederate reunion in Richmond, and then disappeared. His absence caused comment, but for some time no search was made for him. He was separated from his wife, and had been living with a negro woman in the neighborhood. A few days ago a search was begun by his friends, which has just resulted in finding his body cut into pieces and packed in several pickle barrels at the house of his negro mistress.

A Unique Entertainment.

Bar Harbor, Me., Aug. 22.—Mrs. Roswell D. Hitchcock gave a leap-year cotillion last night in honor of Miss Pierson, daughter of General Pierson of New York, and Mrs. Simonds of Charleston, which was danced by 25 unmarried couples. The two principal features in the cotillion were a bridal figure, in which young women, wearing bridal veils and wreaths, chose their partners, and a McKinley figure, in which 16 men wore silver dunce caps, and one crown and one cross.

Claims Conviction Was Forced.

Fargo, N. D., Aug. 22.—Myron R. Kent, twice convicted for the murder of his wife, at Mandan, three years ago, was brought into court yesterday, and the date of execution was set for Nov. 12. Petitions are being circulated all over the state in behalf of the convicted man. It is said, that Juror Newman, who held out for more than 50 ballots against the death penalty, claims that he was coerced into bringing in a verdict for the death penalty by threats of other jurors.

Emperor's Yacht to Blame.

London, Aug. 22.—The Field throws the whole blame for the Isolde accident, and the resultant death of Baron von Zedtwitz upon the Meteor. It comments upon the "ridiculous and inadequate coroner's inquest," and asks what the Yacht Racing association and the Royal Albert Yacht club are going to do in the matter? In conclusion, it says: The attempt to blame Saint is mean. It is a modern instance of the fable of the wolf and the lamb.

Preparing to Receive Veterans.

St. Paul, Aug. 22.—Work on Camp Mason, where 4000 veterans, who wish to renew old associations by living again in the tents, may spend encampment week, has begun. There will be 400 tents, covering six city blocks, and all conveniences are being placed there, including lunch and hospital services. Free cooking of all manner of provisions has been also granted. Street decorations are well under way.

Heavy Liquor Tax Collections.

Albany, Aug. 22. — The amount of money colected under the Raines liquor law still continues to swell, and the returns from all counties, up to Aug. 15, shows the total to be $10,501,095. Of this amount New York city has contributed $1,905,189; Kings county, $2,124,504; and Erie county, $835,977. It is confidently expected by Commissioner Lyman that more than $11,000,000 will be collected during the fiscal year the law is in operation.

Don't Want Pardo.

Madrid, Aug. 22.—All the papers here protest warmly against the nomination of Senor Pardo as the Venezuelan consul at this place, on the ground of his filibustering antecedents. They express the hope that a nomination of this character, which is certain to wound Spanish sentiment, will be annulled.

MR. O'SULLIVAN'S APPEAL

To the Voters of Lowell at Huntington Hall.

Assails an Opponent Without Any Cause—Makes False Charges Against Fisher Pearson—Does Not Claim to Be Honest in Politics—Says 50 Cent Dollar Will Buy Twenty Beers—Promises a Campaign of Wind if Nominated For Congress.

O'Sullivan aboo!

That was the cry of the Lawrence men in Lowell last evening, for some 200 of them with a band which had barnacles in its instruments cried for a couple of hours in honor of the only original, Jere T. O'Sullivan, the famed Silver, from the banks of the Spicket.

The Silver made his long speech and went away and today Lowell is trying to resume the even tenor of her way after the cyclonic invasion of the bard, the Silver and other wind instruments from the democratic city with the republican mayor.

De gang was not expecting Jerry in a conch-and-six and when B. F. Keith's highly illuminated advertising wagon came along Merrimack street they cried gleefully, "Here's de Silver." "Oh! my, get on to de style of him."

But the Silver was up early chasing up de gang and the janitor of Huntington hall. As six o'clock he was up in ward two inviting the fellows to go down and fill the hall, and they accepted the invitation, for the hall was filled with all classes, as everybody wanted to see the political curio from down the river.

The Lawrence contingent started from the Middlesex depot in six carriages led by the band, sticks of red fire being burned in each carriage along the route to the hall. On Merrimack street, the Cider club fell into line, and the procession, headed by a transparency with a picture of the Silver by Charlie Moran and a motto: "What's the matter with O'Sullivan? He's all right." attracted a large crowd.

Well, when everyone got in Jerry and his sombrero came on the platform. He threw the sombrero one side lest he should get talking through it, cleared his voice, threw out his chest, stroked the place where his beard may be and began.

"Citizens of Lowell," he cried in a fourth story voice. "What's de matter wid Jerry?" yelled some one.

"Get on to yourself and let him talk," yelled another and the Silver continued: "I see that I have not appealed in vain and have obtained an audience despite the efforts of the machine. "Hello! John, how are you?" said Jerry to a man who mounted the platform.

"John" was Mr. Ogilvie of Lawrence, who was immediately eulogized by the speaker without telling his name except that he led a strike in Lawrence some years ago. Mr. Ogilvie was brought for effect but the bluff didn't work to any extent.

Continuing, Jerry said: "I am here without a chairman and with no one on the platform (forgetting for the time that his old friend Ogilvie was on deck), for the only man I invited was John H. Harrington, and I reserved that box for his coachman. It may be that he has too much dignity, that he has too much money, to allow himself to meet me; but my friends know I never attack a man behind his back.

The Daily News calls it "a farce" because after Fisher Pearson and other politicians have promised to deliver the 7-2 Lowell votes I appeal to the people. They call it "a farce."

They told me to get out of the fight as John Harrington never lost a fight he entered. He may have been elected to the school board by methods you all know; he may have been elected deputy collector and he was city treasurer to the disgrace of a republican councilman. But he is up against different game this time.

When did you give the power to Salmagundi of the News, or Fisher Pearson to transfer votes? I am here to talk to you and the Boston & Maine corporation can't dowe me with its engines (a freight train was passing under the hall,) nor can Harrington with his newspaper.

Jerry then dropped his own style of personalities and spoke eloquently of Benjamin F. Butler and the political revolution which a diseased monetary system has brought about. It was nice, but unfortunately it was not in Jerry's line, for in less than five minutes he got back into the old rut and walked knee deep in verbal slush to the great delight of the crowd who had come there to hear it.

"What is the condition of politics in this city?" yelled Jerry when he caught his second wind. "Fisher Pearson, elected chairman of the city committee by one vote over Col. Carmichael, is trying to run things. When they ratified the Chicago platform why didn't they ratify me?"

"My former friends told me, 'we are against you Jerry because you have no stuff.' How much of the stuff will you get my friends. You will not get any. I'll guarantee that, for I know the men who handle it. How much did you get when Fifield and Stevens ran.

"My name was put on the list of speakers at the ratification meeting, but I was not allowed to speak, while John Harrington, who declared for silver when the Chicago convention did so, took no chances.

"A new Demosthenes, a new Cicero, talked for half an hour at that meeting, and then comes Mr. Chalifoux for whom I have the greatest respect. He is a business man and being an honest man knows knothing of politics, and that's why I know so much about it. I don't claim to be strictly honest in politics myself.

"Mr. Harrington made a glittering speech and then Mr. Chalifoux said he thought it was Bryan himself.

"Just think of it, John Harrington impressing Mr. Chalifoux with the idea that he was Bryan. Harrington, such an orator!

Bryan who by his magic eloquence obtained the nomination of the highest office in the gift of the people. And to think that in your town you have concealed a man for a quarter of a century who impressed Mr. Chalifoux with the idea that he was Bryan. What eloquence! How the silver music must have flowed from his tongue and how deaf I must have been on that platform, not to have heard it.

"No wonder the machine promised him 72 votes.

"They think John Harrington has $100,000, but if they knew him as well as I do, they would know that he would never let go of a dollar.

"And Fred Williams had to sit on that platform and listen to this local Bryan and his chaperone, who has helped him on his paper, and Harrington that same day stated that while Fifield was in the field he was not a candidate.

Then Jerry talked on the French revolution for a minute but broke away quickly saying that "Harrington makes a good canvass, as good as Marcellus Fletcher made 20 years ago, but Marcellus' time has gone by and he no longer carries the votes of the district in his pocket.

"Tonight in the office of Fisher Pearson they are putting up a scheme which you will not know until they choose to let you in on it.

"If Pearson's name was Moriarity would his brother get a, postoffice? No! But because they are related to the Butlers they are in office. Keep them in offices because if you don't they may leave the party like Nathan Mathews. Gardner Pearson deserves praise for his work for the party but that's no reason that his brother can carry the votes around in his vest pocket.

And just then Jerry made as fine a bluff as any politician, "con-man" or demagogue ever made. Said the Silver: "Who has a watch? Please tell me the time, I don't want to keep you after nine o'clock." The poor young man without even the price a of watch after years in Lawrence politics. "Bluff!" said somebody in the audience.

Having heard the time Jerry said "few people understand the money question," and admitted he didn't know much about it himself. He proved this conclusively by talking about the 53 cent dollar.

Mr. O'Sullivan here portrayed how we could best England even with a 50-cent dollar, showing that it would afford the greatest protection against foreign goods, while it would be good for 100 cents in paying taxes, and would buy twenty beers or twenty street car rides just the same. We would have protection against gold countries and reciprocity with silver countries.

When he left the money question he said: "I am a stranger at your gates and I want fair play against Bryan-Harrington of Nebraska, Lowell. I have not one word to say against John Harrington. If he is nominated I will support him, whether he gets it fairly or not. As to his honesty in building up his business remember I have nothing to say."

Silver then told a funny story from Mark Twain about the sign board which read, "This is the road to ——, and if you can't read go in and ask the blacksmith," the application being: This is the way for Congress and Bryan-Harrington, and if you don't know how to vote go in and ask Fisher Pearson.

"Pearson and the machine have no use for Harrington and they may spring a third man; but if they try to fool Harrington he will turn a trick that will knock them flat. John is no slouch. He knows a thing or two."

At this point it was time for the "ringer" in the audience to get in his work and he did by yelling: "You're all right, Silver, we'll put you on Easy street."

Jerry didn't have to look for the speaker, he simply said: "That man is a Jew and he is proud of the fact and I want to show you that the Rothschild's don't control every Jew in the land." It made a hit with those who never heard it before.

"You have heard that Bryan-Harrington's eloquence would shake the dew drops from the blades of grass in the early morning, the eloquence of Grattan and O'Connell, that so impressed Chalifoux and so dumbfounded the audience that they failed to applaud. Now, I ask you to give me your votes and I will get a fair count.

"I see in the audience my old friend, Salmagundi, (cries of give him a crack,) I saw him from the start, but said nothing. He couldn't sit here, friend and aid of Fisher Pearson that he is, without recalling the good old times and applauding me. In the gray dawn of morning he will arise regretting his action of tonight and if his boss will let him he will give it to me in his paper.

Then Jerry spoke about what he would do if nominated, and very truthfully said: "My campaign will be one of wind. I have seen what wind can do. It has unroofed houses at Lawrence. If the people will listen to my appeal and vote for me I will smash the machine to smithereens."

"I want to meet you after the meeting, and will take a laboring man's suggestion, as well as Fisher Pearson's. Study the question regardless of what the Sun and News tell you and I appeal to you to help me.

After the show [there was cheering for Jerry led by Ned O'Sullivan and Bob Crowley after which the Lawrence crowd wandered to the square, cheered again and filled two specials for Lawrence. Jerry rode on the car as far as First street and when the crowd wasn't looking jumped off and stayed all night.

He wanted to secure good reports of his meeting and to see as many as he could of the boys.

WHICH IS THE ANARCHIST?

SILVER CAMPAIGN

A Brief Statement of the Great Issue.

THE SENATORIAL FIGHT IN THIS CITY.

Effect of Varnum's Boom on Other Candidates.

Here is a brief statement, clear and forcible, of the free silver campaign from the best authority in this country the New York Journal:

"Primarily we hold that money which is based on gold has risen in value with the increased demand for gold so that the debtor is mulcted for the creditor's unfair profit. We believe that the appreciation of gold, which has been continuous since 1873, will be even greater in the coming decade unless checked by the adoption of bimetallism. We believe that an appreciating dollar is the deadly enemy of productive enterprise, the implacable foe of the man who works for wages—that is, who sells his toil. We insist that continued gold monometallism makes the control of the entire stock of gold available for monetary purposes by a few men entirely possible, and we call attention to the fact that the testimony in the recent bond investigation before the United States Senate investigation committee shows that such a "corner" has already been effectively conducted. Finally, the enemies of gold monometallism insist that the only way to combat its evils is to give silver equal rights in the mints—that is, to coin it freely as gold is coined, and at a ratio of 16 to 1 with the dearer metal, and declare that the result would be not a "depreciated" dollar, but an honest dollar—a stable standard."

The Journal hopes that at some time Mr. Cockran will discuss the essentials of the currency question, and in the discussion subordinate his rhetoric to his reason, his malice to his power of argument.

Kansas City World: Now it came to pass that Marcus Aurelius, in the days that were hot, girt up his loins and reflected, "Verily this man Bryan sweepeth every thing before him. I must do a little sweeping myself," and forthwith he began to throw much gold dust in the eyes of the people.

The Senatorial Fight.

"Dan" Varnum's senatorial boom stirred things in the republican ranks.

This is not the first time "Dan" has had a boom, nor is it the only time he has stirred things in the republican ranks.

About one year ago the ex-boss started to boom himself for the office of mayor and just when prospects looked brightest, the boom collapsed and Daniel, deserted by his boomers was left alone.

The history of that convention where the ex-boss sought mayoralty honors may be written in four words, "A victory for Miller."

And now republican politicians are wondering if history will repeat itself. There are Putnam and Roper two worthy foemen, whom Daniel must encounter in this contest. The former, crafty, willing and a conqueror, well versed in politics; and Roper never regarded as particularly strong but managing to squeeze through by the narrowest margin after a close fight. Varnum and Roper will draw from the same element while Putnam will cast his fortunes among the "straight-liners."

Varnum and Putnam both come from Centralville but Roper is also handicapped in this same direction for reports among the politicians yesterday were to the effect that Solon W. Stevens, Esq., will be an aggressive candidate for the nomination. Squire Stevens and Mr. Roper are Highlanders.

Last year Mr. Stevens was "prominently mentioned," and even after the caucuses had been held, and the public announcement was made that a majority of the delegates chosen were anti-Foss men, everything was done by the element in control to tempt Mr. Stevens into the contest.

The experienced men in the republican ranks regard Putnam as a winner, and in the same breath they admit that his strength is impaired by Roper's candidacy.

Putnam and Roper are both chuckling over the Varnum meeting, and friends of both maintain that the publicity given the plans of the Varnumites indicates that the ex-boss' boom will be poorly managed, so far as the details attending a successful canvass are concerned.

W. H. I. Hayes enjoys much attention from the candidates and their friends, but "Old Hundred" believes in keeping his hands off. And there are others in just the same position as Hayes.

When the campaign for the republican senatorial nomination assumes more activity then await developments of the greatest interest in the political arena.

At present it is conceded that Mr. Putnam is the strongest candidate in the race.

All the tenements have water closets, sewerage and city water and pay big rentals on their value. There are a great many reasons why the sale of this property should prove very attractive and desirable to tenement property buyers, or to investors in real estate for improvement that is right splendidly situated. Within five minutes' walk of the postoffice or the Middlesex street railroad station; close to many of the city's important corporations, also to many smaller industries; between two of the principal streets of Lowell; close to the business centre and so located that it cannot help in the near future of becoming very valuable.

FOR PRESIDENT.

WILLIAM J. BRYAN of Nebraska

FOR VICE-PRESIDENT.

ARTHUR SEWALL of Maine

Boss Varnum's boom was launched with great confidence but it will not overtake that of Putnam or of Roper.

The laborers of Lowell are for silver as they should be. The gold standard has paralyzed all kinds of industry.

If the republicans want to bring Bryan into joint debate they can arrange a meeting between him and McKinley, that is if Hanna allows McKinley to open his mouth.

The lord chief justice of England comes here with a message of peace. England is now for arbitration, but she refused to submit the Venezuela trouble to arbitration before the president issued his message on the Monroe doctrine.

Hanna is following a forlorn hope to the south. He thinks that he can break the solid south by boodle. He has been in the west and came back discouraged, he will be more dismayed if he makes a missionary trip to the south.

The decision of that Indianapolis judge that men can talk politics on the sidewalk, is all right. Many a good political scheme was laid in such sidewalk conferences. Had the charge been simple obstruction of the sidewalk, the decision would probably have been different.

The Courier says: "Under free coinage the bullion value and mint value of silver will be identical." Now that is just what democrats have been contending all along and it completely disproves the senseless twaddle kept up mostly to intimidate voters about a 53 cent dollar.

The republican leaders are to issue an appeal to the powers in regard to international bimetallism. The powers will take no stock in such an appeal. It will be regarded only as an electioneering dodge which it is and nothing more. It will not serve to bluff the people.

The power of the law will be invoked to prevent certain manufacturers from intimidating their employes on the silver question. They threaten them with want of employment, and other calamities should Bryan and Sewall be elected. It seems that in this state at least this kind of electioneering is prohibited by law.

The use of vile names such as "anarchist," "revolutionist," and the like as applied to the leader of the silver movement is now played out. The people want to hear some arguments in support of the gold standard, otherwise they will vote solidly, as they should, for the democratic ticket.

The New York democracy is out for Bryan. Tammany is preparing for a great demonstration on the occasion of the state convention at Buffalo next month. This is a signal victory for Bryan. Before he leaves the state he will have won the entire democracy with the exception of such men as Whitney, Cockran, who are interested directly in maintaining the gold standard.

Jerry's exposition of the money question was exceedingly at fault. He assumed that under free coinage we should have a 53 cent dollar. Now that is exactly what Bryan and all the free silver leaders are strenuously fighting. That would mean repudiation and all the ills the republicans predict. Such an argument injures the cause. If the Sun surmised that the parity between gold and silver could not be maintained it would never endorse the silver platform. Mr. O'Sullivan's portrayal of how we could get along and beat England with a 53 cent dollar was a libel upon the democratic platform which asserts that the parity between the two metals can be maintained.

O'Sullivan's attack upon Fisher H. Pearson as head of what he terms the local machine was unwarranted. The statement that Mr. Pearson could turn over the delegates from this city to any candidate, is false and was made for effect to bluff the voters of the city. Mr. O'Sullivan gave Mr. Simonds as his authority and that gentleman says that his only statement on the matter was that in his opinion the Lowell delegations would support a Lowell candidate. Mr. Pearson last night said that at present no man can tell how another will vote much less control the caucuses throughout the entire city. "I don't think," said he "that the voters of Lowell are so void of intelligence as to be gulled by such a transparent bluff."

Shylocks Turned Philanthropists.

Another astounding effect of the threat of free coinage is the transformation of all the gold money lenders into philanthropists.—Detroit New Tribune.

THE POLITICAL CAMPAIGN

BEGIN WITH THE PEOPLE

THE DEMOCRATIC IDEA IS TO ELEVATE THE MASSES

The Republican Theory Is to Legislate For Wealth, With the Working Classes Looking to Their Employers For What Bounty They May Choose to Bestow. Two Theories of Government Contrasted.

There are two ideas of government. There are those who believe that if you just legislate to make the well to do prosperous their prosperity will leak through on those below. The Democratic idea has been that if you legislate to make the masses prosperous their prosperity will find its way up and through every class and rest upon it.—William J. Bryan in the Chicago Convention.

In this telling contrast Mr. Bryan has uttered not only an epigram, but a scientific formula. The Republican theory of the relations of the government with the national prosperity is and has been literally as he states it. The influence of this theory has been especially marked in the tariff policy with which the name of William McKinley has been conspicuously identified. Nobody pretends that there is anything in any tariff law that gives anything directly to a workman, shopkeeper or clerk, and it cannot be seriously maintained that such laws contain any direct benefits for farmers. The benefits of a high tariff, according to its advocates, descend upon the masses by way of the large employers of labor. The tariff enables the manufacturers and mine owners to tax the community, and then, by the hypothesis, they impulsively divide their gains with their workmen in the form of higher wages, and the workmen, in turn, shed prosperity among the tradesmen and farmers.

From the foundation of our government the two ideas to which Mr. Bryan refers have striven for the mastery. The old Federalists, of whom the Republicans of today are the legitimate descendants, believed in an ordered hierarchy of society, with the gentleman of property at the top and the working masses looking to him for guidance, employment and protection. Take care of the gentlemen, was their motto, and the gentlemen will take care of the people. Their ideal was the benevolent squire, living on his landed estates and surrounded by a happy, loyal and reverent tenantry, to whom the gracious lady of the hall would take delicacies when they were sick, and who would contentedly take up their abode in the workhouse when they were old.

Opposed to the Federalist idea was that of the untamed Democracy, which held that every man was the best guardian of his own fortunes, and which asked nothing of its "betters" but "plain, ordinary civility and—little of that." The clerical, editorial and oratorical fishwives of today could have taught the alarmed respectability of that time nothing in the way of abuse of the demagogues whose revolutionary doctrines were subverting the order of society. But the Democratic idea won and became the basis of our system of government. Up to the time when the Republican party was captured by the plutocracy it had created the people were recognized as the source of national power and wealth. Nor have they given up that idea yet. It is hard to make a dependent peasantry and proletariat of a race bred for generations to carve its own way in government and industry.

Even if the average millionaire were bursting with philanthropic impulses and never would consent to rise without pulling up everybody below him, it would still be repugnant to American instincts to have a crowbar inserted in the social fabric to lift the top, in the expectation that the rest would follow. The more natural way is to lift everything at once by raising the base. But cases have been known in which men of wealth have risen without exerting themselves to pull anybody else with them. This fact intensifies the popular distaste for the Republican plan of raising society by the top. There is a prevalent fear that the advantages bestowed upon the "upper classes" may not get themselves evenly distributed, after all. The masses prefer to make sure by having the process begin with them.—New York Journal.

The interests of 100 laborers who toil from day to day for their bread are just as important under this form of government as the interests of 100 millionaires. This fact should go without saying, but the Republican party forgot it long ago.

The Spirit of Democracy.

The rich and the great do not want an income tax because it makes them bear their just share of the government. They prefer that the revenue of the government should be forced out of the toil and sweat of the laboring millions. The Democratic party deals with men irrespective of their holdings. It looks upon a man as he comes from the hand of nature as the product of God, endowed with sensibility, equal in every respect to every other man, even though millions may be concentrated in him.—Atlanta Constitution.

The People Warned.

The shameless marshaling of the forces of corruption to the support of McKinleyism by the tariff barons four years ago aroused public indignation and resulted in the overthrow of the combine. This year the open organization of greed to foist, by corrupt methods, the syndicate programme of gold and grab on the country is a warning the people will undoubtedly heed.—St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

The Republican idea of protection is a high tariff on the products of labor and for trade in labor itself—as high a price as possible to the manufacturer for his goods and as low a price as possible for the labor he employs to make them.

Returning to the Fold.

The gains in Alabama were mostly made in white counties, showing that many Populists are returning to their old allegiance. The Democratic majority will probably be much larger in November, when the Populists and Republicans will not be combined.—Florida Times-Union.

Work For Mr. Cockran.

Hon. Bourke Cochran has been retained by the Honest Money league to make speeches throughout the country. Possibly he will be able to undo some of Roswell G. Horr's work.—Washington Post.

The strong physically are drafted into the army for the defense of the country, if necessary, simply because they are strong. This principle of proportioning service to power should be carried out in the same way by an income tax.

Golden Silence.

McKinley believes that silence and gold will accomplish more for his cause than all the speeches he could make. He supplies the one, and the syndicate supplies the other.—Exchange.

Has Good Backing.

In Chicago Bryan said the newspapers reminded him of what one of his friends said—that "there was nobody on our side but the people." They are good backing.—Oil City Derrick.

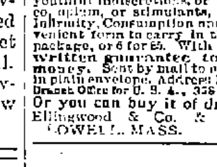

The mighty masses who compose the Democratic party cannot be swerved from truth and righteousness.

Gold, Greed and Grab.

For every objection brought against the Chicago platform ten can be found against the combination of gold, greed and grab put up by the Republican convention.

Men May Talk Politics on the Streets.

INDIANAPOLIS JUDGE'S DECISION RENDERED TODAY.

A Point of Interest to Silver Leaguers.

Indianapolis, Aug. 21.—Judge Cox in the city court today decided that there is no law or authority to prevent people from discussing politics on the public streets.

For the past 10 days crowds have congregated on the sidewalk near the postoffice discussing the financial question. The police have tried to put them away and made two arrests, yesterday.

In court today the judge decided to dismiss the cases and said that free speech is fundamental in the constitution and that the politics of the day is a subject of interest and for discussion by the people.

BRYAN GRATIFIED

At the Good News of Coming Support in New York.

Upper Red Hook, N. Y., Aug. 21.—Candidate Bryan has planned out a quiet day for himself. This morning he spent in writing letters and inspecting his mail and this afternoon he went fishing. He read a newspaper statement that New York would be with him and smiled contentedly. He said the situation had been exaggerated and that he believed that the democracy would remain loyal to the party candidates.

The democratic county committees are in charge of the coming meetings at Rochester, Albany, Syracuse and Buffalo.

When shown a morning paper stating that Richard Croker has endorsed the Chicago platform, he appeared much gratified to see it and added that he expected the co-operation of all democrats except those who are particularly interested in the single gold standard. It is stated that Dr. Junkins, brother-in-law of Richard Croker, informed Mr. Bryan that Croker would be with him.

LL WERE FIGHTERS.

Army Recruits While Drunk Smash Up a Train.

Chicago, Ill., Aug. 21.—A number of army recruits from the Columbus O., barracks going to several posts out west arrived on the First Pennsylvania train last evening after having run things for some time. There were 26 of them and nearly all were drunks. In running things three of them were badly injured. One attempted to carve his companions with a large knife. They broke all the furniture on the train.

Irish Dynamiter's Case.

London, Aug 21.—T. P. O'Connor's paper, The Sun, publishes a sensational story today regarding the condition of John Daly, the Irish political prisoner, released yesterday from Portland prison. It states also that in a short time Daly will divulge some evidence of the manner in which Irish prisoners are treated. Mr. Daly states that they are subjected to indignities and punishments that the vilest criminals have escaped.

Big Strike of Hod Carriers.

Chicago, Aug. 21.—A strike of the union hod carriers and bricklayers' helpers is threatened unless the contractors allow them 25 cents per hour. Workers on several buildings will strike this afternoon.

Killed by Dynamite.

Parry's Pond, Ont., Aug. 21.—Two men were killed today while blasting rocks by a premature discharge of dynamite. John Olsan was fatally injured and several others were slightly injured.

HOT FROM THE WIRE.

A dispatch from Amesbury states that Charles Copp, the alleged Epping, N. H., forger, is in California.

Fell Five Stories.

Boston, Aug. 21.—Samuel Leavitt, aged 5 years, is dead today as the result of a fall of five stories through an elevator well on Poplar street.

REV. FR. McMANUS

Enjoying Himself on His Trip Through Europe.

Rev. John J. Gilday, acting pastor of St. Michael's church, is the recipient of a letter from Rev. T. F. McManus of St. Peter's church dated Florence which states that the latter is on his way to Rome, having visited Switzerland and many leading points of interest in Europe. The other Lowell clergymen—Rev. Michael and William O'Brien, who accompanied Father McManus on his trip across the water, are like him enjoying good health and being much benefited by their visit.

Police Court—Hadley, J.

Seven drunks.

Thomas Fleming, a weary wanderer, made a cruel mistake last night in going to sleep on the police station steps, not knowing the nature of the building. He got six months at the state farm this morning for vagrancy.

Peter Wood was in for keeping a restaurant without a license, and he fought the case, claiming that he was not a victualler, but a boarding house keeper. The case occupied over an hour.

Mary Reagan got four months in jail for larceny.

There were a number of juvenile cases.

Luke Burke Heard From.

Luke Burke, the Lowell boxer, now in Buffalo, has made the sports of that city believe he is a world-beater, and one of them offers to back him against Mike Sears, Dave Sullivan, Casplan Leon and others, who would have no trouble in trimming Burke in short order.

Fell From a Jigger.

Pairn Nault fell from a stone jigger at the corner of Riverside and White streets this afternoon and injured his back. He was removed in the ambulance to his home, rear of 18 Coolidge street.

WANTED IN NEW YORK FOR MANY CRIMES.

Was About to Marry a Nashua Girl.

Nashua, N. H., Aug. 21.—Louis Puryeau of Chateaugay, N. Y., who is wanted there for arson, burglary, horse-stealing and breaking and entering post offices, was arrested here this morning.

Detectives have been on his track for months and came up with him at last. Puryeau has been here six months and had become engaged to an estimable Nashua young woman. Since his arrest it has transpired that he is married already and has served 15 years in prison. Efforts will be made to have him extradicted.

DEATHS.

MORRIS—George Morris, aged 6 months, died this morning at the home of his parents, 10 Floyd street. He was the child of Walter and Margaret Morris.

GALLAGHER—Sarah Gallagher, aged 1 year, 8 months, child of Peter and Catherine Gallagher, died yesterday at their home, 83 Lakeview avenue. The funeral took place this afternoon and interment was in the Catholic cemetery.

DOYLE—Annie, the beloved wife of John J. Doyle, died in Malden, Mass., yesterday afternoon after a long illness which she bore with christian patience. Besides her husband she leaves a mother Mrs. Bridget O'Neil, and a brother, John O'Neil who resides on North street, this city. She will be remembered by a large circle of acquaintances here as Miss Annie O'Neil, who a few years ago was an active member of St. Peter's choir. The funeral will take place Saturday forenoon from the church in Malden, after which the remains will be brought to Lowell for interment.

Mrs. Doyle's remains will arrive at the Middlesex street station at 10.30 a. m., Saturday.

FUNERALS.

KILLIN—Gerald Killin, aged 3 months, child of Richard and Honora, died last night at their home, 232 Chelmsford street. The funeral took place this afternoon and burial was in the Catholic cemetery.

MULLANE—The funeral of Mary Mullane took place this morning from St. Peter's church, Rev. Father McDonough officiating. The bearers were Patrick Mulligan, James McHugh, James Connors, Adam Groves, D. Duffy and William Murphy. Burial was in the Catholic cemetery.

POLICE NOTES.

Inspectors Laflamme and Allen yesterday arrested Joseph O. LePage on a charge of obtaining money under false pretences. The amount was $175, but no particulars were given.

It seems that a friend of LePage's wished to send some money to Canada and to make it easier, gave LePage the amount, $175, for his check on the Lowell Trust company. When the check was produced in Canada it was learned that LePage didn't have such an account with the Trust company.

THEATRICAL NEWS.

Lakeview Theatre.

Tomorrow will probably be the last chance to see Uncle John at the Lakeview theatre. It is a comical play, well presented and worth going to see.

Music Hall.

Will West of the Dazzler, which will be seen at Music hall, Aug. 27, is not only an excellent singer but he is a clever comedian of exceptional ability. At the very front of farce comedy Dutch comedians, stands Max Miller of the Dazzler company. His work is always neat, and without ever being vulgar, he gets the best kind of humor out of the German character.

Merrimack Woolen Mills Co.

The Merrimack woolen mills are now run by a corporation under the name of the Merrimack Woolen Mills Co. This act of incorporation was filled August 6. The capital stock is $25,000 in 500 shares at $100 each. The company is organized to manufacture woolen, worsted, linen, silk and cotton goods and machinery for producing the same. The directors are August Fels, president; S. Buchman, treasurer, and E. A. Smith.

Runaway on Bridge Street.

A sorrel horse attached to a delivery wagon ran away on Bridge street at noon today. The horse was stopped without much trouble and the only damage done was the breaking of a portion of the harness.

ABOUT SOCIAL EVOLUTION

WHAT ITS INTERESTS ARE IN PRESENT CAMPAIGN

Will a Radical Change In the Instructions to the Kings Benefit the People, or Will It Be Necessary to Completely Revolutionize Existing Systems?

[Special Correspondence.]

Here we are, entangled in the most singular and sui generis presidential campaign we ever had or that was ever seen on the face of the earth. Its immediate results may be completely negative or even pregnant with disasters. Yet this campaign of ours may mark the beginning of a revolution in our political system. Please remember that a revolution does not need to mean the conflagration of our cities or any wholesale or retail murder anywhere. The philosophic or reasonable meaning of revolution is "a revolt against social iniquities for the purpose of orderly establishing social righteousness."

The job in question, like every other, is subject to two processes—viz, the simple and the complex or the scientific and the empirical. The simple and scientific method means the line of least resistance, that along which certain results shall be attained with the minimum effort and in the shortest period. The complex and empirical system implies just the reverse—that is, the longest and most painful line of march possible to produce some given results.

The latter system represents the unfolding of all civilizations so far. It looks as if it was going to be long yet before men learn how to be sensible and scientific in the building up of nations. To be sure, as soon as that knowledge is obtained, progress, the real article, shall become a tangible fact instead of the sentimental fiction it has always been. For the present all we can expect from men is that they shall never again resort to brute force as a means to improve the race at large. Only the few can be improved through violence in any form. That is one of the most emphatic historical teachings which we should never forget. And what applies to violence applies to legalized injustice. Only the few can again improve under the latter; hence the need of our ascertaining what is essentially right for us to ingrain in law, if our object is to bring the upheaval of humanity and not that of any certain class of men, as has been the case in all previous revolutionary movements.

Leaving the above aside for a few moments, it can be easily noticed that the most important point in our present campaign is that it means the grouping of several millions of plain people grasping a certain specific idea and intending that it should be carried into law as a direct mandate from the people, and no matter what any number of legislators in legislative halls may see fit to think on the subject. The specific idea in question may be far from right or fundamental enough to bring any general good, but suppose it carried the day and became law, by the fiat of the people, the people would soon cancel it, to be replaced by a better one, because no bad law can be but very mischievous to the working masses forming the people, while every bad law, or nearly every bad one, is good to this or that group of men—good in the sense of giving them advantages over the rest. A bad law is necessarily a selfish one, embodying selfish human perceptions, and so tending to evolve the worst instincts of the cunning and the shrewd fellows at the expense of the many who have not yet progressed enough to be shrewd and cunning and are still somewhat simple or honest, somewhat after the manner of God's laws in nature and in the ethical order.

After 40 centuries of misrule by the choice classes of society, not to speak of the ages before the deluge, the plain people can hardly be expected to have become great masters in the problems of legislation when their teachers have never as yet done anything but make the most dreadful blunders in all that appertains to the welfare of nations and in the realm of law. All that our teachers have ever done is to make wealth abundant among the few and scarce among the many, although it is the latter who have forever produced most of the wealth of nations. Speaking in general terms, civilization has created two classes — viz, wealth producers and wealth manipulators, giving to the latter most of the abundance created by the former, by the producers, who, with few exceptions, are condemned to live and die in poverty, in defiance of all that is right and orderly in the eyes of God and common decency.

Our present campaign is an emphatic protest against that fact, a protest backed by a certain specific popular mandate, virtually asserting the farce of legislation by delegated legislative bodies. It is yet a blind assertion, a mere rudimentary one, expressed in crude language, taking effects for causes, but very important with all its imperfections if the people adhere to the perception that they are by nature the only legislators of nations or social groups, large or small.

About 2,000 years of parlimentary experiments all over the world prove that delegated legislators become government by cliques of kings without the advantage of having a solitary king to be kicked out of his throne if he does not behave. The more kings we have the less we know which one is to blame. The individual hides himself behind the group, and the group behind any constitution good enough, perhaps, for the dead who wrote it, but far from sufficiently good for those living today. And what is that but political monopoly by which we negative all political freedom? And political monopoly must necessarily evolve economic monopoly in all forms up to the most transcendent and fatal ones, as is the case today and has been for many years. All because like begets like through time and space.

HOW TO DRINK WATER

Diseases Caused by the Too Sparing Use of Fluids.

Physicians say that too little fluid is taken, rather than too much, and the great benefit derived from treatment at mineral springs is often quite as much due to the amount as to the kind of water.

Many diseases are directly due to too great concentration of the fluids of the body and are to be counteracted by the imbibition of larger quantities, for a time at least. To have sufficient water present is the rationale of water cures, especially that form which prescribes the drinking of a cupful of hot or cold water half an hour before meals. This not only washes out the stomach; it furnishes the medium for the active secretions, ptyalin, gastric juice, etc., in quantity. On the other hand, excess lies in the path of this as well as other things, and what is a rule for one is not a rule for another. However, if one finds that the taking of a pint of water will relieve that sense of oppression and indigestion which sometimes occurs an hour or two after a meal, and that only favorable effects follow, the inference is that too little was taken with the food. There is not much danger of taking too much clear water.

The temperature of the water to be drunk is often a vexed question. This may be left to the individual, for the quantity taken (one-half to one pint) at any one time can have but little influence upon the temperature of the 14 pints of blood circulating rapidly about the 70 or more pounds of water in the tissues, which are maintained at a temperature of nearly 100 degrees.

For experiment two tumblers of ice water have been slowly swallowed and promptly siphoned out and found to have attained a temperature of 95 degrees in five minutes. It is true that it is possible to swallow ice water so rapidly and in such quantities that the stomach receives a momentary chill and disturbance sets in, but this is no reason why all ice water should be forbidden.

How Cloth Is Made Waterproof.

The process now in use among the Yorkshire clothmakers for waterproofing cloth is one that may be undertaken by private persons in their own homes and is as follows: Dissolve one ounce of isinglass in one pound of soft water, one ounce of alum in two pounds of water and a quarter of an ounce of soap in one pound of water, all separately. Strain the solutions, mix them and let them simmer for some time. Brush the preparation while hot over the cloth, and when dry brush it well and lay on another coat, all on the wrong side. The cloth will be fit for use in two or three days.

How to Make a Stained Glass Window.

If the artistic and thrifty housewife will save the colored glass bottles that find their way into her house and put them to use in the following manner, she will have something that will be a delight. Break the bottles into comparatively small pieces, and then, if a certain regularity is desired, cut the pieces into shape with a diamond pointed glass cutter.

Arrange these on a pane of plain white glass the desired size, using a little transparent cement to hold them in place, and a mixture of white cement and putty to imitate the lead that is used in expensive stained glasswork. The dull, rich olive of the claret bottle, the deep amber of the sherry, the delicious sea water green which is used for ginger ale, and the various shades of red and blue that one gets from the apothecary and the wine merchant are revelations when cleansed of their contents and held in single thickness against the light.

When the cement is dry, the window can be put in place, and as the sunlight strikes it she whose fingers have done the work will feel that it was well worth the trouble.

Organized Labor In Illinois.

The total number of labor unions in Illinois is 763, with an aggregate membership of 190,750 wage earners. Of this number 309 organizations, with a numerical strength of 111,240, exist in Chicago. From official sources it has been ascertained that within the rank of this membership are 74,160 men who are heads of families, representing 370,800 persons in Chicago dependent upon them for support.

A woman's noblest work is helping a baby into life and health. She is committing a crime when she helps a sickly baby into the world. It is a crime because it is wholly within her power to make the baby strong and healthy. She can do it by the proper preparation—by taking proper care of herself during the period of gestation. Many babies die early, or at birth, or are sickly all their lives because of their mothers' ignorance or neglect. Neither is excusable.

Every woman may be strong and well, and so insure the health of her baby. If she will take Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription during the period of gestation, she will find that she will have none of the discomforts incident to this condition, and that parturition will be free from danger, and comparatively free from suffering. This medicine is the greatest remedy in the world for all the forms of weakness or disease peculiar to women. It is the only medicine of its kind prepared by a regularly graduated, experienced and skilled specialist in the treatment of diseases of women. It is the only medicine in the world that will make the coming of baby safe and easy. You can get it at the drug stores. If you want to know all about it, address Dr. R. V. Pierce, chief consulting physician to the Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute, Buffalo, N. Y.

All those who suffer from biliousness, headaches, heart-burn, flatulence, palpitation of the heart, and a generally sluggish action of the digestive organs should take Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets. They are tiny, sugar-coated granules. Forty in a little vial. One "Pellet" is a gentle laxative; two a mild cathartic. By druggists.

Work Only For the Homers.

The Gazette, a daily paper of Cedar Rapids, Ia., printed the following in a recent issue:

Workmen from other towns should be warned against coming here expecting to find work. This applies to skilled mechanics and laborers alike. There are enough resident mechanics and laborers who are citizens of the city to do all the work of the season. For three years these men have had light work and low wages. Now, when big improvements are on hand and work is plentier, they should have the advantage of the same. There will be lots of work here this year, but men from other places will make a mistake by coming here expecting to find plenty of work. The city already has many strangers here waiting for work.

The best crowd that the "Sliver" had with him last night was the Cider club, which, notwithstanding the fact that that was its busy night, came up in a body.

There was Tom Connors, late of Lowell, and little Phil O'Connell, with all his noise, young Moohe, several others and last, but not least, "Dr." Long, who made his office boy attend all patients until he returned.

The doctor is now in business for himself and he hired Tom Connors as coachman. Thus if the "Sliver" hasn't a coachman of his own he knows where he can get a corker.

THE BUSINESS OUTLOOK.

Long Looked For Boom Has, as Yet, Failed to Show Itself.

New York, Aug. 22.—R. G. Dun & Co.'s weekly review says: Political events of the week had no definite influence upon business prospects, for the phenomenal variations in sterling exchange, and the beginning of imports of gold may be fairly attributed to the accumulating excess of merchandise exports over imports, to which attention has been repeatedly called, exports for the past two weeks having been 20 per cent larger, and imports here 21 per cent smaller than last year. The rapid movement of grain, and the unusually early marketing of cotton, tend strongly to aid the banking syndicate which has undertaken to regulate foreign exchange.

Speculation has advanced wheat over 1 cent during the week, corn a small fraction, and cotton ⅝, the principal motive power being reports of injury to growing crops. As before, the unfavorable accounts respecting wheat are in some measures discredited by the continued heavy movement from the farm. The movement of corn continues heavy, although the price is still so low that one wonders why the product is put into cars, instead of into hogs. The alarm about destruction of cotton has been most vigorously worked here and abroad, and has readily raised the price, although it is yet to be seen whether the yield has been so far diminished as to warrant a price nearly a cent higher than a year ago.

The boot and shoe industry, which continues to lead all others, in proportion of hands employed, is nevertheless rapidly nearing the end of past orders, except in women's grain and buff shoes, of which there are still orders for some weeks to come, while others are constantly received, but in other branches the new business is light. Prices are a shade weaker. Leather is weaker, and small demand, although restricted supplies have caused a shade of advance in some kinds. Hides, at Chicago, averaged more than 3 per cent lower for the week again, the fall in the past five weeks having averaged about 25 per cent.

Some additional heavy failures in the lumber trade call attention to the continuing depression which appears to result, at least in part, from expectations entertained by many that the unlimited increase in new building during the past year or two would be permanent.

Nothing encouraging can yet be said regarding the woolen manufacture, and the demand for goods, even at recent reductions in prices, is still disappointingly small. A heavy auction sale of cotton goods brought prices which were considered quite encouraging, and the current demand is fairly maintained, although the mills are not inclined to make large contracts in the future, in view of the rise in the raw material. In general the working force in the textile branches does not appear to have increased.

Failures for the week have been 280 in the United States, against 222 last year, and 27 in Canada, against 43 last year.

Another Bicycle Story.

Philadelphia, Aug. 22.—Information of a reliable character has reached here, that a syndicate of bicycle manufacturers has been formed, with the intention of wresting from the League of American Wheelmen the control of racing. It is the intention of the new combination to have a circuit, embracing cities where the greatest interest is shown in the sport. Control of a track will be secured in each city, or a track built. Men who ride, of course, will come under the ban of the League of American Wheelmen. As a compensation, they will be guaranteed good prizes, plenty of sport, and no effort will be spared to induce the "crackerjacks" to cast the league aside, and make the new scheme successful by their co-operation. Alleged arbitrary action, by the league racing board, is said to have brought about the break.

Wheel Records Lowered.

Salina, Kan., Aug. 22.—Several records were broken yesterday at the state meet of the League of American Wheelmen, Vesper, Bron and Hunt, the Kansas City triplet team, lowered the one-third mile track record from 39s. to 37 2-5s. "Reddy" Maxwell did a one-third mile in 38 3-5s., lowering the record from 39 4-5s. John Lawson, the "Terrible Swede," of Chicago, rode a mile, flying start, in 2m. flat.

Jews Not Allowed In Turkey.

Washington, Aug. 22.—The Turkish legation has received the following communication from the sublime porte: "We have been informed that a great number of Jewish families, who had emigrated from Russia to the United States, intend to establish themselves in Turkey. The access of the empire is expressly forbidden to the Jewish emigrants."

A QUEER STORY.

In Which a Careless Cashier and Bold Robber Figure.

Kansas City, Kan., Aug. 22.—An unknown thief entered the branch of the American National bank yesterday, during the absence of the cashier, and prying open a desk, secured $1000 in currency or more, and made his escape. Two hundred dollars in silver was untouched by the robber. The act was most bold, and was apparently committed by some one familiar with the premises. E. P. Boswell, cashier and teller, opened the bank shortly after 9 o'clock. After counting several thousand dollars taken out of the safe, he remembered he had a message to deliver to a neighboring business house. He hurriedly returned the bulk of the money to the safe, and the rest of it to a drawer in the cashier's table desk. Across the hall from the bank sat J. R. Stoller, president of the Kansas City Live Stock Exchange. He was only a dozen feet distant, and Boswell felt safe in going out. Although he returned in at least five minutes the robbery had been committed without any one knowing it. The robber had come behind the railing, pried open the drawer, probably with a small bar, taken what currency he could easily carry, and carefully locking the drawer departed. The exact amount taken is not known, and may exceed $1000.

SPAIN'S TROUBLE

Another Rebellion Threatened in Her Domain.

JAPAN SAID TO BE INTERESTED IN MATTER.

Revolt in the Philipine Islands.

Madrid, Aug. 22.—An official dispatch from Manila announces the discovery in the Philippine islands of a Separatist conspiracy, the object being to secure independence from Spain. According to the official advices 21 persons have already been arrested in the islands, several being Free Masons. The news has caused great excitement in Madrid, and the police in consequence, last night, raided the Hispano Philippine club and seized a large quantity of papers. While commenting on the outbreak in the Philippine islands in the senate yesterday, Senor T. Castellano, the minister of the colonies, read several telegrams from the governor of the islands, Captain General R. Blanco.

These telegrams were to the effect, that conspirators aimed to secure the complete independence of the islands. Senator Montoro Rios declared that the Liberal party was prepared to support all government measures necessary for the maintenance of the Spanish integrity. Nearly all of the Opposition leaders in the chamber made similar promises.

[Madrid papers received in the United States contained frequent expressions, indicating that a revolt, in the Philippine Islands might be expected in the near future. It was ever suggested by some of the papers, that Japan was endeavoring to foment trouble in that part of the Spanish possessions, for the purpose of extending the jurisdiction of her island empire over the Philippines. The Philippine Islands lie east about 250 miles south of the newly acquired Japanese possession of Formosa, a number of small islands intervening. Spain's army, in the Philippine Islands, is estimated at seven regiments of infantry and one of artillery, with a squadron of cavalry, the total effective force being 864 officers, and about 20,000 men.]

Found a Marble Mountain.

Tromsoe, Norway, Aug. 22.—Messrs. Trevor, Battye and Grawood, the last two being members of the Arctic expedition, headed by Sir Martin Conway, have returned in a little steam launch. It is announced that the results to geology and geography will be very valuable. Sir Martin Conway's expedition was the first to cross Spitzbergen from east to west. In the central portion of the island was found a vast system of glaciers and a magnificent ice plateau. The expedition also made a complete exploration of the Horn Round Tynd, a mountain in the southern part of Spitzbergen, nearly 5000 feet in height. They report that the Horn Round Tynd peak is composed almost entirely of marble.

The Transvaal Situation.

Cape Town, Aug. 22.—A dispatch from Pretoria says that the impartiality of the Jameson trial, together with Mr. Chamberlain's policy and friendly attitude, has produced a marked effect throughout the Transvaal republic. A month ago there was not a sign of any concession to the Uitlanders. Now the volksraad is passing progressive measures, while the expulsion of aliens bill has no chance of becoming a law. In conclusion, the dispatch says that there is no probability that the Boers will now assume an aggressive attitude. President Kruger is opposed to the expulsion of aliens bill.

England's Gold Outflow.

London, Aug. 22.—The Times this morning notes the fact that the Bank of England has slightly reduced the price of American eagles, so that they will go to America in preference to bar gold. The Telegraph says that it is evident, that the Bank of England is not disposed to encourage an excessive outflow of gold to the United States, although the price of eagles has been somewhat reduced, still the rates are high enough to check exports, The Telegraph says, except at a considerable profit to the banks.

One of Sewall's Ships Lost.

Rio de Janeiro, Aug. 22.—A dispatch from Santa Catharine says that the American ship Willie Rosenfeld, 2353 tons, Captain Dunphy, which sailed from New York on April 22, for San Francisco, recently foundered 400 miles from the coast. Part of the crew were landed safely at Santa Catharine, but 14 are missing. The Willie Rosenfeld was owned by Arthur Sewall & Co. of Bath, Me., where she was built, and from which port she hailed.

Will Treat Them Well.

London, Aug. 22.—The Stockwell orphanage, conducted by the Tabernacle founded by the late Dr. Spurgeon, last night arranged for an American tour for the members of the choir. Rev. Dr. Lorimer of Boston spoke, and promised that the choir would be accorded a hearty reception in America. Rev. Dr. Eaton of Toronto also spoke, and made similar promises for the people of Canada.

Trying to Drive a Bargain.

Pekin, Aug. 22.—Representatives of the Hong Kong and Shanghai chambers of commerce have informed Sir Nicholas R. O'Connor, envoy extraordinary and minister plenipotentiary of Great Britain, that they favor the raising of the tariff as China desires, according to the statements of Li Hung Chang, in exchange for the abolition of certain duties.

What Will They Accomplish?

Habana, Aug. 22.—Reinforcements of the Spanish army are expected here shortly. These reinforcements consist of 670 infantry officers, and 34,328 privates, four cavalry officers, and 456 cavalry men, 34 artillery officers, and 1252 artillery men, 34 officers in charge of the engineering corps, and 1547 men belonging to the engineering corps.

La Bourgoyne Exonerated.

Cherbourg, Aug. 22.—The maritime court has decided that the French steamer La Bourgoyne is not to blame for the collision, which occurred in a fog, between herself and the Atlas line steamer Alisa, both outward bound, near Fort Hamilton, New York bay, on Feb. 29, which resulted in the sinking of the Alisa.

Awaiting Governor's Report.

Washington, Aug. 22.—The report of the governor of Louisiana, on the lynching of several Italians in that state recently, is expected at the state department in a day or two, and probably will form the basis of further action by this government in the case.

Northern Pacific Improvements.

Chicago, Aug. 22.—The Northern Pacific road is about to enter upon the work of reducing many of its grades, with the view of decreasing the cost of the operation of the road. By lessening the grades it will be possible for the road to haul train loads very much larger than at present. It is said that the Great Northern hauls trains 50 per cent larger than those on the Northern Pacific, and the latter proposes to so improve its property that it will be on a level with its competitor.

Lawyers at a Banquet.

Saratoga, Aug. 22.—Chauncey M. Depew last night presided at the banquet of the American Bar association, which was enjoyed by about 260 distinguished personages, in the Grand Union hotel ballroom. Mr. Depew, as toastmaster, made some brief opening remarks, and offered as a toast, "the Lord Chief Justice of England," which was responded to by Lord Russell. The next toast was "The American Bar association," which was replied to by retiring President Storey of Boston, under whose administration was held the most successful and celebrated meeting in the history of the association. Sir Francis Lockwood responded to "The wit of the English bar." James M. Beck of Philadelphia, James C. Carter, and Bourke Corkran of New York, were also called upon, and their utterances rounded out one of the most famous banquets ever held at Saratoga.

Alleged Offer Was Absurd.

Washington, Aug. 22. — Treasury officials know nothing about the report that an American syndicate has offered the Argentine republic $150,000,000 in silver for $100,000,000 4 per cent gold bonds, and regard it as a wild invention. In the first place, the terms of the offer are preposterous. If silver bullion to the value of $150,000,000 is meant, the syndicate would be making the Argentine republic a present of $50,000,000. If the coinage value is meant, the bargain would be equally bad the other way. There is no American syndicate which can command either that much silver or that much capital for Argentine bonds.

GENERAL RUGER.

Earl Li Hung Chang, special ambassador from the Emperor of China, will arrive in New York by the steamship St. Louis on Friday, Aug. 28. Major General Thomas H. Ruger, U. S. A., commanding the department of the east, who has been designated by the president to act as his representative, will meet him on his arrival and escort him with a detachment of the Sixth regiment, United States cavalry, to the Waldorf hotel, where he will remain during his stay in New York, as the guest of the nation. The state department will be represented by W. W. Rockhill, first assistant secretary of state. General Ruger will attend the viceroy during his sojourn in this country, and be in charge of all arrangements pertaining to his visit. The President of the United States, who is to be in the city as the guest of ex-Secretary of the Navy William C. Whitney, will receive the special ambassador at Mr. Whitney's on the following day, the secretary of the treasury, the secretary of war, and possibly other members of his cabinet, being present.

On Sunday a visit will be made to General Grant's tomb, at Riverside. Monday will be spent in a trip to the military academy at West Point, by the U. S. S. Dolphin, and a sail under the Brooklyn bridge, and up the East river. Tuesday the party will be entertained at lunch by representative business men of New York, and later in the day an opportunity will be given the Chinese residents of the city to meet the earl by arrangement with the Chinese consul. Wednesday will be occupied by a visit to Brooklyn, on the invitation of the mayor of that city, and in the evening the viceroy will be tendered a review by the Seventh regiment in its armory. Thursday the party will go by the Pennsylvania railroad to Philadelphia, where suitable entertainment will be provided; and Friday and Saturday will be spent in Washington; and Sunday at Niagara Falls, where the viceroy will be met by representatives of the Canadian government, who will escort him to Vancouver, from which port he sails for home.

Southampton, Aug. 22.—The steamship St. Louis, which sailed for New York today, took an exceptional number of passengers. Li Hung Chang is described on the passenger list as "Ambassador, Senior Guardian of the Heir Apparent, Prime Minister of State, and Earl of the First Rank, with the title of Suy."

Creditors Find Fault.

New York, Aug. 22.—Leopold Weil & Co., importers of and dealers in jewelry, have failed. Their liabilities are estimated at $125,000. The principal creditor of the firm was Joseph Frankels Sons, manufacturing jewelers, 68 Nassau street, to whom was owed about $50,000. Finding themselves pressed by their creditors, the members of the firm transferred merchandise, book accounts and other assets to Joseph Frankels Sons. There was no assignment. Mr. Greenbaum criticised the failure as "one by transference." Strenuous objections are expected from other creditors to this action.

MR. O'SULLIVAN'S APPEAL

To the Voters of Lowell at Huntington Hall.

Assails an Opponent Without Any Cause—Makes False Charges Against Fisher Pearson—Does Not Claim to Be Honest in Politics—Says 50 Cent Dollar Will Buy Twenty Beers—Promises a Campaign of Wind if Nominated For Congress.

O'Sullivan aboo!

That was the cry of the Lawrence men in Lowell last evening, for some 200 of them with a band which had barnacles in its instruments cried for a couple of hours in honor of the only original, Jere T. O'Sullivan, the famed Silver, from the banks of the Spicket.

The Silver made his long speech and went away and today Lowell is trying to resume the even tenor of her way after the cyclonic invasion of the band, the Silver and other wind instruments from the democratic city with the republican mayor.

De gang was not expecting Jerry in a coach-and-six and when B. F. Keith's highly illuminated advertising wagon came along Merrimack street they cried gleefully, "Here's de Silver." "Oh! my, get on to de style of him."

But the Silver was up early chasing up de gang and the janitor of Huntington hall. At six o'clock he was up in ward two inviting the fellows to go down and fill the hall, and they accepted the invitation, for the hall was filled with all classes, as everybody wanted to see the political curio from down the river.

The Lawrence contingent started from the Middlesex depot in six carriages led by the band, sticks of red fire being burned in each carriage along the route to the hall. On Merrimack street, the Cider club fell into line, and the procession, headed by a transparancy with a picture of the Silver by Charlie Moran and a motto: "What's the matter with O'Sullivan? Hee's all right." attracted a large crowd.

Well, when everyone got in Jerry and his sombrero came on the platform. He threw the sombrero one side lest he should get talking through it, cleared his voice, threw out his chest, stroked the place where his beard may be and began.

"Citizens of Lowell," he cried in a fourth story voice. "What's de matter wid Jerry?" yelled some one.

"Get on to yourself and let him talk," yelled another and the Silver continued: "I see that I have not appealed in vain and have obtained an audience despite the efforts of the machine. "Hello! John, how are you?" said Jerry to a man who mounted the platform.

"John" was Mr. Ogilvie of Lawrence, who was immediately eulogized by the speaker without telling his name except that he led a strike in Lawrence some years ago. Mr. Ogilvie was brought for effect but the bluff didn't work to any extent.

Continuing, Jerry said: "I am here without a chairman and with no one on the platform (forgetting for the time that his old friend Ogilvie was on deck), for the only man I invited was John H. Harrington, and I reserved that box for his coachman. It may be that he has too much dignity, that he has too much money, to allow himself to meet me; but my friends know I never attack a man behind his back.

The Daily News calls it "a farce" because after Fisher Pearson and other politicians have promised to deliver the 72 Lowell votes I appeal to the people. They call it "a farce."

They told me to get out of the fight as John Harrington never lost a fight he entered. He may have been elected to the school board by methods you all know; he may have been appointed deputy collector and he was elected city treasurer to the disgrace of a republican councilman. But he is up against different game this time.

When did you give the power to Salmagundi of the News, or Fisher Pearson to transfer votes? I am here to talk to you and the Boston & Maine corporation can't down me with its engines (a freight train was passing under the hall,) nor can Harrington with his newspaper.

Jerry then dropped his own style of personalities and spoke eloquently of Benjamin F. Butler and the political revolution which a diseased monetary system has brought about. It was nice, but unfortunately it was not in Jerry's line, for in less than five minutes he got back into the old rut and walked knee deep in verbal slush to the great delight of the crowd who had come there to hear it.

"What is the condition of politics in this city?" yelled Jerry when he caught his second wind. "Fisher Pearson, elected chairman of the city committee by one vote over Col. Carmichael, is trying to run things. When they ratified the Chicago platform why didn't they ratify me?"

"My former friends told me, 'we are against you Jerry because you have no stuff.' How much of the stuff will you get my friends. You will not get any. I'll guarantee that, for I know the men who handle it. How much did you get when Fifield and Stevens ran.

"My name was put on the list of speakers at the ratification meeting, but I was not allowed to speak, while John Harrington, who declared for silver when the Chicago convention did so.

"A new Demosthenes, a new Cicero, talked for half an hour at that meeting, and then comes Mr. Challoux for whom I have the greatest respect. He is a business man and being an honest man knows knothing of politics, and that's why I know so much about it. I don't claim to be strictly honest in politics myself.

"Mr. Harrington made a glittering speech and then Mr. Challoux said he thought it was Bryan himself.

"Just think of it, John Harrington impressing Mr. Challoux with the idea that he was Bryan. Harrington, such an orator!

Bryan who by his magic eloquence obtained the nomination of the highest office in the gift of the people. And to think that in your town you have concealed a man for a quarter of a century who impressed Mr. Challoux with the idea that he was Bryan. What eloquence! How the silver music must have flowed from his tongue and how deaf I must have been on that platform, not to have heard it.

"No wonder the machine promised him 72 votes.

"They think John Harrington has $100,000, but if they knew him as well as I do, they would know that he would never let go of a dollar.

"And Fred Williams had to sit on that platform and listen to this local Bryan and his chaperone, who has helped him on his paper, and Harrington that same day stated that while Fifield was in the field he was not a candidate.

Then Jerry talked on the French revolution for a minute but broke away quickly saying that "Harrington makes a good canvass, as good as Marcellus Fletcher made 20 years ago, but Marcellus' time has gone by and he no longer carries the votes of the district in his pocket.

"Tonight in the office of Fisher Pearson they are putting up a scheme which you will not know until they choose to let you in on it.

"If Pearson's name was Moriarity would his brother get a postoffice? No! But because they are related to the Butlers they are in office. Keep them in offices because if you don't they may leave the party like Nathan Mathews. Gardner Pearson deserves praise for his work for the party but that's no reason that his brother can carry the votes around in his vest pocket.

And just then Jerry made as fine a bluff as any politician, "con-man" or demagogue ever made. Said the Silver: "Who has a watch? Please tell me the time, I don't want to keep you after nine o'clock." The poor young man without even the price a of watch after years in Lawrence politics. "Bluff!" said somebody in the audience.

Having heard the time Jerry said "few people understand the money question," and admitted he didn't know much about it himself. He proved this conclusively by talking about the 53 cent dollar.

Mr. O'Sullivan here portrayed how we could beat England even with a 50-cent dollar, showing that it would afford the greatest protection against foreign goods, while it would be good for 100 cents in paying taxes, and would buy twenty beers or twenty street car rides just the same. We would have protection against gold countries and reciprocity with silver countries.

When he left the money question he said: "I am a stranger at your gates and I want fair play against Bryan-Harrington of Nebraska, Lowell. I have not one word to say against John Harrington. If he is nominated I will support him, whether he gets it fairly or not. As to his honesty in building up his business remember I have nothing to say."

Silver then told a funny story from Mark Twain about the sign board which read, "This is the road to ——, and if you can't read go in and ask the blacksmith," the application being: This is the way for Congress and Bryan-Harrington, and if you don't know how to vote go in and ask Fisher Pearson.

"Pearson and the machine have no use for Harrington and they may spring a third man; but if they try to fool Harrington he will turn a trick that will knock them flat. John is no slouch. He knows a thing or two."

At this point it was time for the "ringer" in the audience to get in his work and he did by yelling: "You're all right, Silver, we'll put you on Easy street."

Jerry didn't have to look for the speaker, he simply said: "That man is a Jew and he is proud of the fact and I want to show you that the Rothschild's don't control every Jew in the land." It made a bit with those who never heard it before.

"You have heard that Bryan-Harrington's eloquence would shake the dew drops from the blades of grass in the early morning, the eloquence of Grattan and O'Connell, that so impressed Challfoux and so dumbfounded the audience that they failed to applaud. Now, I ask you to give me your votes and I will get a fair count.

"I see in the audience my old friend, Salmagundi, (cries of give him a crack.) I saw him from the start, but said nothing. He couldn't sit here, friend and aid of Fisher Pearson that he is, without recalling the good old times and applauding me. In the gray dawn of morning he will arise regretting his action of tonight and if his boss will let him he will give it to me in his paper.

Then Jerry spoke about what he would do if nominated, and very truthfully said: "My campaign will be one of wind. I have seen what wind can do. It has unroofed houses at Lawrence. If the people will listen to my appeal and vote for me I will smash the machine to smithereens."

"I want to meet you after the meeting, and will take a laboring man's suggestion, as well as Fisher Pearson's. Study the question regardless of what the Sun and News tell you and I appeal to you to help me.

After the show there was cheering for Jerry led by Ned O'Sullivan and Bob Crowley after which the Lawrence crowd wandered to the square, cheered again and filled two specials for Lawrence. Jerry rode on the car as far as First street and when the crowd wasn't looking jumped off and stayed all night.

He wanted to secure good reports of his meeting and to see as many as he could of the boys.

WARD OPTION.

On the Liquor Question May be Introduced Next Year.

A man who is prominent in affairs of state legislation said yesterday that it will not surprise him if an attempt is made again next year to secure ward option on the liquor question.

The idea is to have each ward vote independently on the license question. This would confine licensed liquor saloons to the sections of the city favoring the granting of licenses.

An effort was made last year to introduce this method, Brighton being taken as a stepping stone, but the measure was defeated after it had a second reading.

EX-GOV. HOGG.

The Guest of Charles J. Glidden on Wildor Street—He is a Silverite.

Ex-Gov. Hogg of Texas was dined at the residence of C. J. Glidden in the Highlands last evening.

At the dinner table there were Gen. Thomas Sherwin of Boston, Levi Sprague, J. W. C. Pickering, H. R. Rice, Asa C. Russell, William F. Hills, Wesley A. Gove of Boston, Charles P. Cummings of Boston.

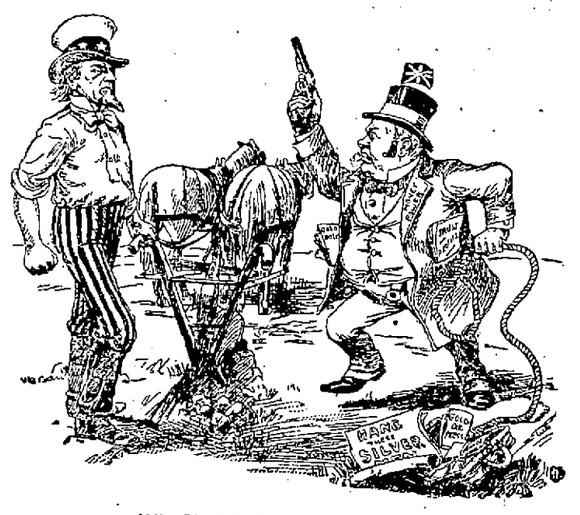

Gov. Hogg is a stanch silverite, and unswerving in his loyalty to Bryan and Sewall.

Mr. Hogg does not care to discuss the political situation.

Ex-Gov. Hogg said:

"Both the republicans and the democrats are out for bimetallism. That can be understood by one who has followed the actions of both parties. The difference is that the republicans want some other country, notably England, to aid us, while the democrats think this country is large enough and strong enough to go it alone. We can force all other nations to come to our ideas and that is all there is to it. Bimetallism has got to come and the Chicago platform is not anarchistic as some people would have you believe.

"What the United States ought to do is to cut the Nicaragua canal through. That would open to us the markets of the Pacific South American states, the South Sea Islands, China, Japan, Australia, any number of other places. Why, just think of it! Today we are really 200 miles further from San Francisco and other ports on that coast than Liverpool is. And San Francisco in our own country. It does seem queer, doesn't it? Mr. Dutton, you know, estimates it would cost $80,000,000 to put that canal through. What if it does? It would open the greatest markets in the world to us, and you know that today this country is the greatest producer of raw material in the world. There is no disputing that fact. Now, supposing that canal is put through, it will bring us just so much nearer to the countries I have mentioned as the sea between here and Liverpool. We could let the ships of the United States go through that canal free and charge those of other nations. That would tend to support the expense of the canal and I think be a benefit to American shipping interests. All these things count. Why, I tell you with that canal we could wring Johnny Bull by the neck."

IRISH HISTORICAL SOCIETY

F. H. Murray, the able editor of the Lawrence Sun, is the prime mover in the organization of an Irish historical society. His co-workers thus far are Joseph Smith of this city and State Insurance Commissioner Linehan of Concord, N. H.

The object is to write a history of the Irish people in this part of the United States. Only men of ability will be admitted, as the object is to produce literary material in the line marked out by the organizers.

"Sam Denton," the devoted admirer of Mrs. "Wright" or Redlich, of course was there and had a pasteboard box under his arm. It was full of letters that Wright had written to Mrs. Redlich.

When the hearing was adjourned a month ago it was at the urgent request of George Curtis Wright, the dapper little "lady's man," who, Mrs. Redlich's lawyer declared, "might have fifty commonlaw wives," for all he knew, at which the Countess Zichy's farther had protested vehemently. He had promised positively to produce Arthur Redlich, that woman's husband," and thus force the magistrate to deny her plea for counsel fees and alimony. He had made the same promise several times before. The tearfully protesting "Mrs. G. Wright" had indignantly stamped the proceeding as a ruse to delay decision and keep her from the money that she claimed—to keep her destitute, for she had to sell her furniture to pay expenses since Mr. Wright has refused to do so.

The magistrate adjourned the case until Sept. 11, to hear further evidence.

SILVER CAMPAIGN

A Brief Statement of the Great Issue.

THE SENATORIAL FIGHT IN THIS CITY.

Effect of Varnum's Boom on Other Candidates.

Here is a brief statement, clear and forcible, of the free silver campaign from the best authority in this country the New York Journal:

"Primarily we hold that money which is based on gold has risen in value with the increased demand for gold so that the debtor is mulcted for the creditor's unfair profit. We believe that the appreciation of gold, which has been continuous since 1873, will be even greater in the coming decade unless checked by the adoption of bimetallism. We believe that an appreciating dollar is the deadly enemy of productive enterprise, the implacable foe of the man who works for wages—that is, who sells his toil. We insist that continued gold monometallism makes the control of the entire stock of gold available for monetary purposes by a few men entirely possible, and we call attention to the fact that the testimony in the recent bond investigation before the United States Senate investigation committee shows that such a "corner" has already been effectively conducted. Finally, the enemies of gold monometallism insist that the only way to combat its evils is to give silver equal rights in the mints—that is, to coin it freely as gold is coined, and at a ratio of 16 to 1 with the dearer metal, and declare that the result would be not a "depreciated" dollar, but an honest dollar—a stable standard."

The Journal hopes that at some time Mr. Cockran will discuss the essentials of the currency question, and in the discussion subordinate his rhetoric to his reason, his malice to his power of argument.

Kansas City World: Now it came to pass that Marcus Aurelius, in the days that were hot, girt up his loins and reflected, "Verily this man Bryan sweepeth every thing before him. I must do a little sweeping myself," and forthwith he began to throw much gold dust in the eyes of the people.

The Senatorial Fight.

"Dan" Varnum's senatorial boom stirred things in the republican ranks.

This is not the first time "Dan" has had a boom, nor is it the only time he has stirred things in the republican ranks.

About one year ago the ex-boss started to boom himself for the office of mayor and just when prospects looked brightest, the boom collapsed and Daniel, deserted by his boomers was left alone.

The history of that convention where the ex-boss sought mayoralty honors may be written in four words, "A victory for Miller."

And now republican politicians are wondering if history will repeat itself. There are Putnam and Roper two worthy foemen, whom Daniel must encounter in this contest. The former, crafty, willing and a conqueror, well versed in politics; and Roper never regarded as particularly strong but managing to squeeze through by the narrowest margin after a close fight. Varnum and Roper will draw from the same element while Putnam will cast his fortunes among the "straight-liners."

Varnum and Putnam both come from Centralville but Roper is also handicapped in this same direction for reports among the politicians yesterday were to the effect that Solon W. Stevens, Esq., will be an aggressive candidate for the nomination. Squire Stevens and Mr. Roper are Highlanders.

Last year Mr. Stevens was "prominently mentioned," and even after the caucuses had been held, and the public announcement was made that a majority of the delegates chosen were anti-Foss men, everything was done by the element in control to tempt Mr. Stevens into the contest.

The experienced men in the republican ranks regard Putnam as a winner, and in the same breath they admit that his strength is impaired by Roper's candidacy.

Putnam and Roper are both chuckling over the Varnum meeting, and friends of both maintain that the publicity given the plans of the Varnumites indicates that the ex-boss' boom will be poorly managed, so far as the details attending a successful canvass are concerned.

W. H. I. Hayes enjoys much attention from the candidates and their friends, but "Old Hundred" believes in keeping his hands off. And there are others in just the same position as Hayes.

When the campaign for the republican senatorial nomination assumes more activity then await developments of the greatest interestin the political arena.

At present it is conceded that Mr. Putnam is the strongest candidate in the race.

J. E. CONANT & CO.'S SALES

For the Week Ending August 29th—Sales Rain or Shine.

Tuesday.

Guardian's sale of very valuable real estate on Pearl street, between Appleton and Middlesex streets, Tuesday, August 25th, promptly at five o'clock in the afternoon, and without limit or reserve of any kind whatsoever, I shall sell to the highest bidder the herewith described parcels of real property: Lot 1—Cottage house of seven rooms and cellar, numbered 31 Pearl street and within 45 feet of the corner of Appleton and Pearl streets. It rents for $13 a month, and has a splendid tenant. The lot has a frontage of 45 feet and contains 2250 square feet of land. Lot 2—Cottage house of 10 rooms, two cellars and has two tenements. It is rented for $14 a month, and there are two good tenants, and it is numbered 21 Pearl street or within 100 feet of the corner of Middlesex and Pearl streets. The lot has a frontage of 44 feet, and contains 2200 square feet of land. Lots 1 and 2 adjoin each other and form a mighty good chance for improvement. There's no better opportunity in this section of Lowell for a large block. Lot 3—Four tenement block numbered 14, 16, 18 and 20 Pearl street, at the corner of Spring street and a tenement in the rear with entrance on Spring street. The property rents for $47 a month and there's never a vacant tenement. It is the next estate to the block at the corner of Middlesex and Pearl streets. The lot has a frontage of 45 feet on Pearl street, 49 feet on Spring street, and contains about 2200 square feet of land. All the tenements have water closets, sewerage and city water and pay big rentals on their value. There are a great many reasons why the sale of this property should prove very attractive and desirable to tenement property buyers, or to investors in real estate for improvement that is right splendidly situated. Within five minutes' walk of the postoffice or the Middlesex street railroad station; close to many of the city's important corporations, also to many smaller industries; between two of the principal streets of Lowell; close to the business centre and so located that it cannot help in the near future of becoming very valuable.

FOR PRESIDENT,

WILLIAM J. BRYAN of Nebraska

FOR VICE-PRESIDENT,

ARTHUR SEWALL of Maine

Boss Varnum's boom was launched with great confidence but it will not overtake that of Putnam or of Roper.

The laborers of Lowell are for silver as they should be. The gold standard has paralyzed all kinds of industry.

If the republicans want to bring Bryan into joint debate they can arrange a meeting between him and McKinley, that is if Hanna allows McKinley to open his mouth.

The lord chief justice of England comes here with a message of peace. England is now for arbitration, but she refused to submit the Venezuela trouble to arbitration before the president issued his message on the Monroe doctrine.

Hanna is following a forlorn hope to the south. He thinks that he can break the solid south by boodle. He has been in the west and came back discouraged, he will be more dismayed if he makes a missionary trip to the south.

The decision of that Indianapolis judge that men can talk politics on the sidewalk, is all right. Many a good political scheme was laid in such sidewalk conferences. Had the charge been simple obstruction of the sidewalk, the decision would probably have been different.

The Courier says: "Under free coinage the bullion value and mint value of silver will be identical." Now that is just what democrats have been contending all along and it completely disproves the senseless twaddle kept up mostly to intimidate voters about a 53 cent dollar.

The republican leaders are to issue an appeal to the powers in regard to international bimetallism. The powers will take no stock in such an appeal. It will be regarded only as an electioneering dodge which it is and nothing more. It will not serve to bluff the people.

The power of the law will be invoked to prevent certain manufacturers from intimidating their employes on the silver question. They threaten them with want of employment, and other calamities should Bryan and Sewall be elected. It seems that in this state at least this kind of electioneering is prohibited by law.

The use of vile names such as "anarchist," "revolutionist," and the like as applied to the leader of the silver movement is now played out. The people want to hear some arguments in support of the gold standard, otherwise they will vote solidly, as they should, for the democratic ticket.

The New York democracy is out for Bryan. Tammany is preparing for a great demonstration on the occasion of the state convention at Buffalo next month. This is a signal victory for Bryan. Before he leaves the state he will have won the entire democracy with the exception of such men as Whitney, Cockran, who are interested directly in maintaining the gold standard.

Jerry's exposition of the money question was exceedingly at fault. He assumed that under free coinage we should have a 53 cent dollar. Now that is exactly what Bryan and all the free silver leaders are strenuously fighting. That would mean repudiation and all the ills the republicans predict. Such an argument injures the cause. If the Sun surmised that the parity between gold and silver could not be maintained it would never endorse the silver platform. Mr. O'Sullivan's portrayal of how we could get along and beat England with a 53 cent dollar was a libel upon the democratic platform which asserts that the parity between the two metals can be maintained.

O'Sullivan's attack upon Fisher H. Pearson as head of what he terms the local machine was unwarranted. The statement that Mr. Pearson could turn over the delegates from this city to any candidate, is false and was made for effect to bluff the voters of the city. Mr. O'Sullivan gave Mr. Simonds as his authority and that gentleman says that his only statement on the matter was that in his opinion the Lowell delegations would support a Lowell candidate. Mr. Pearson last night said that at present no man can tell how another will vote much less control the caucuses throughout the entire city. "I don't think," said he "that the voters of Lowell are so void of intelligence as to be gulled by such a transparent bluff."

Shylocks Turned Philanthropists.

Another astounding effect of the threat of free coinage is the transformation of all the gold money lenders into philanthropists.—Detroit New Tribune.

THE POLITICAL CAMPAIGN

THE DEMOCRATIC IDEA IS TO ELEVATE THE MASSES

The Republican Theory Is to Legislate For Wealth, With the Working Classes Looking to Their Employers For What Bounty They May Choose to Bestow. Two Theories of Government Contrasted.

There are two ideas of government. There are those who believe that if you just legislate to make the well to do prosperous their prosperity will leak through on those below. The Democratic idea has been that if you legislate to make the masses prosperous their prosperity will find its way up and through every class and rest upon it.—William J. Bryan in the Chicago Convention.

In this telling contrast Mr. Bryan has uttered not only an epigram, but a scientific formula. The Republican theory of the relations of the government with the national prosperity is and has been literally as he states it. The influence of this theory has been especially marked in the tariff policy with which the name of William McKinley has been conspicuously identified. Nobody pretends that there is anything in any tariff law that gives anything directly to a workman, shopkeeper or clerk, and it cannot be seriously maintained that such laws contain any direct benefits for farmers. The benefits of a high tariff, according to its advocates, descend upon the masses by way of the large employers of labor. The tariff enables the manufacturers and mine owners to tax the community, and then, by the hypothesis, they impulsively divide their gains with their workmen in the form of higher wages, and the workmen, in turn, shed prosperity among the tradesmen and farmers.

From the foundation of our government the two ideas to which Mr. Bryan refers have striven for the mastery. The old Federalists, of whom the Republicans of today are the legitimate descendants, believed in an ordered hierarchy of society, with the gentleman of property at the top and the working masses looking to him for guidance, employment and protection. Take care of the gentlemen, was their motto, and the gentlemen will take care of the people. Their ideal was the benevolent squire, living on his landed estates and surrounded by a happy, loyal and reverent tenantry, to whom the gracious lady of the hall would take delicacies when they were sick, and who would contentedly take up their abode in the workhouse when they were old.

Opposed to the Federalist idea was that of the untamed Democracy, which held that every man was the best guardian of his own fortunes, and which asked nothing of its "betters" but "plain, ordinary civility and—little of that." The clerical, editorial and oratorical fishwives of today could have taught the alarmed respectability of that time nothing in the way of abuse of the demagogues whose revolutionary doctrines were subverting the order of society. But the Democratic idea won and became the basis of our system of government. Up to the time when the Republican party was captured by the plutocracy it had created the people were recognized as the source of national power and wealth. Nor have they given up that idea yet. It is hard to make a dependent peasantry and proletariat of a race bred for generations to carve its own way in government and industry.

Even if the average millionaire were bursting with philanthropic impulses and never would consent to rise without pulling up everybody below him, it would still be repugnant to American instincts to have a crowbar inserted in the social fabric to lift the top, in the expectation that the rest would follow. The more natural way is to lift everything at once by raising the base. But cases have been known in which men of wealth have risen without exerting themselves to pull anybody else with them. This fact intensifies the popular distaste for the Republican plan of raising society by the top. There is a prevalent fear that the advantages bestowed upon the "upper classes" may not get themselves evenly distributed, after all. The masses prefer to make sure by having the process begin with them.—New York Journal.

The interests of 100 laborers who toil from day to day for their bread are just as important under this form of government as the interests of 100 millionaires. This fact should go without saying, but the Republican party forgot it long ago.

The Spirit of Democracy.

The rich and the great do not want an income tax because it makes them bear their just share of the government. They prefer that the revenue of the government should be forced out of the toil and sweat of the laboring millions. The Democratic party deals with men irrespective of their holdings. It looks upon a man as he comes from the hand of nature as the product of God, endowed with sensibility, equal in every respect to every other man, even though millions may be concentrated in him.—Atlanta Constitution.

The People Warned.

The shameless marshaling of the forces of corruption to the support of McKinleyism by the tariff barons four years ago aroused public indignation and resulted in the overthrow of the combine. This year the open organization of greed to foist, by corrupt methods, the syndicate programme of gold and grab on the country is a warning the people will undoubtedly heed.—St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

The Republican idea of protection is a high tariff on the products of labor and for trade in labor itself—as high a price as possible to the manufacturer for his goods and as low a price as possible for the labor he employs to make them.

Returning to the Fold.

The gains in Alabama were mostly made in white counties, showing that many Populists are returning to their old allegiance. The Democratic majority will probably be much larger in November, when the Populists and Republicans will not be combined.—Florida Times-Union.

Work For Mr. Cockran.

Hon. Bourke Cockran has been retained by the Honest Money league to make speeches throughout the country. Possibly he will be able to undo some of Roswell G. Horr's work.—Washington Post.

The strong physically are drafted into the army for the defense of the country, if necessary, simply because they are strong. This principle of proportioning service to power should be carried out in the same way by an income tax.

Golden Silence.

McKinley believes that silence and gold will accomplish more for his cause than all the speeches he could make. He supplies the one, and the syndicate supplies the other.—Exchange.

Has Good Backing.

In Chicago Bryan said the newspapers reminded him of what one of his friends said—that "there was nobody on our side but the people." They are good backing.—Oil City Derrick.

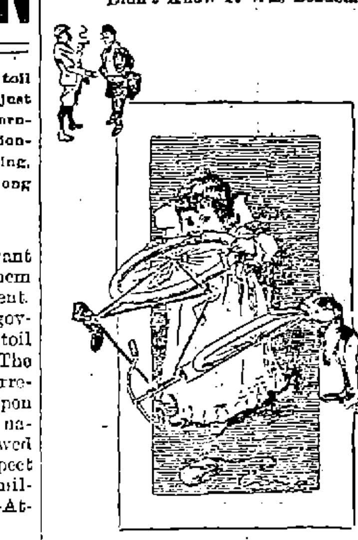

The mighty masses who compose the Democratic party cannot be swerved from truth and righteousness.

Gold, Greed and Grab.

For every objection brought against the Chicago platform ten can be found against the combination of gold, greed and grab put up by the Republican convention.

THE LYNN STRIKE

Makes Trouble for the Non-Union Hands.

OVER 2000 PEOPLE FOLLOW FOUR WOMEN.

Several Arrests Made and Great Excitement.

Lynn, Mass., Aug. 22. — Fully 10,000 people, many of whom were prominent business men and lawyers, gathered in front of the T. G. Plant factory at 6 o'clock last night. The crowd seemed twice as great as ever before. The whole police force was on duty. The crowd broke up into sections and followed the non-union men to their houses.

Notwithstanding the vigilance of the police, several assaults were made. About 2000 people followed four women, who work in Plant's stitching room. One of the women was struck in the face by a stone and badly hurt. Robert D. Ramsdell, treasurer of the Plant company, got a taste of the mob's vengeance, as he was followed to his home by a large crowd, yelling and hooting at his every step. His house was surrounded, and three large windows were smashed with stones.

Frank Balcell, an Armenian non-union man, was arrested for profanity during the troublesome scene incident to his going to his boarding place. The crowd was pestering him until he turned and expressed his sentiments in profane language.

David Ireland was arrested for assault and George Purdee for disorderly conduct.

James A. White of Haverhill, a non-union man, was followed to his home by 12 men, and was forcibly pushed into an open field and beaten severely. He complained to the police.

One of the labor leaders claims to have in his possession a letter written by the Plant company to a man in Claremont, N. H., offering him $5 a head for every man he would ship to the factory to work in place of the strikers.

There are only 30 men in the whole factory now, and half as many women. Seven or eight men have agreed to come out. A general riot is anticipated. It is understood that Mayor Bessom will temporarily increase the police force.

Shocking Tragedy In Virginia.

Fredericksburg, Va., Aug. 22.—Dallas Prince, a white man, who lives 25 miles from here, attended the recent Confederate reunion in Richmond, and then disappeared. His absence caused comment, but for some time no search was made for him. He was separated from his wife, and had been living with a negro woman in the neighborhood. A few days ago a search was begun by his friends, which has just resulted in finding his body cut into pieces and packed in several pickle barrels at the house of his negro mistress.

A Unique Entertainment.

Bar Harbor, Me., Aug. 22.—Mrs. Roswell D. Hitchcock gave a leap-year cotillion last night in honor of Miss Pierson, daughter of General Pierson of New York, and Mrs. Simonds of Charleston, which was danced by 25 unmarried couples. The two principal features in the cotillion were a bridal figure, in which young women, wearing bridal veils and wreaths, chose their partners, and a McKinley figure, in which 16 men were silver dunce caps, and one crown and one cross.

Claims Conviction Was Forced.

Fargo, N. D., Aug. 22.—Myron R. Kent, twice convicted for the murder of his wife, at Mandan, three years ago, was brought into court yesterday, and the date of execution was set for Nov. 13. Petitions are being circulated all over the state in behalf of the convicted man. It is said, that Juror Newman, who held out for more than 50 ballots against the death penalty, claims that he was coerced into bringing in a verdict for the death penalty by threats of other jurors.

Emperor's Yacht to Blame.

London, Aug. 22.—The Field throws the whole blame for the Isolde accident, and the resultant death of Baron von Zedtwitz upon the Meteor. It comments upon the "ridiculous and inadequate coroner's inquest," and asks what the Yacht Racing association and the Royal Albert Yacht club are going to do in the matter? In conclusion, it says: The attempt to blame Saint is mean. It is a modern instance of the fable of the wolf and the lamb.

Preparing to Receive Veterans.

St. Paul, Aug. 22.—Work on Camp Mason, where 4000 veterans, who wish to renew old associations by living again in the tents, may spend encampment week, has begun. There will be 500 tents, covering six city blocks, and all conveniences are being placed there, including lunch and hospital services. Free cooking of all manner of provisions has been also granted. Street decorations are well under way.

Heavy Liquor Tax Collections.

Albany, Aug. 22. — The amount of money collected under the Raines liquor law still continues to swell, and the returns from all counties, up to Aug. 15, shows the total to be $10,801,095. Of this amount New York city has contributed $1,905,189; Kings county, $2,124,504, and Erie county, $835,977. It is confidently expected by Commissioner Lyman that more than $11,000,000 will be collected during the fiscal year the law is in operation.

Don't Want Pardo.

Madrid, Aug. 22.—All the papers here protest warmly against the nomination of Senor Pardo as the Venezuelan consul at this place, on the ground of his filibustering antecedents. They express the hope that a nomination of this character, which is certain to wound Spanish sentiment, will be annulled.

OF GOLD LEADERS

Bragg and Buckner Favored for Leaders.

BUSY TIMES AT THE WASHINGTON HEADQUARTERS.

Both Sides Claim to Have Cheering Reports.

Washington, Aug. 22.—The Pennsylvania friends of William F. Harrity of the Democratic national committee do not believe that he will consent to have his name presented in the Indianapolis convention as a candidate for the presidency. For that reason they do not look with favor upon the suggestion made in Chicago, Washington and New York that Mr. Harrity of Pennsylvania and Daniel Lawler of Minnesota should constitute the Democratic gold standard ticket. Mr. Harrity himself declares he is out of politics, and will not discuss the matter, but those of his friends who are supporting the movement for a gold ticket claim that the strongest ticket that could be made would consist of a candidate from one of the northwestern states for the presidency, and one from the southern states for the vice presidency. The names of Bragg of Wisconsin and Buckner of Kentucky are regarded by them as particularly strong.

Senator Butler, chairman of the Populist committee, says that he has been receiving some very favorable reports from different states, where there have been disagreements between the Populists and Democrats, as to fusion on electors. It is now believed that the offer of the Populists in Texas, to take seven of the 15 electors, will be accepted. In West Virginia, the committees have about agreed upon a division, giving the Democrats four and the Populists two electors. It is also stated, that the chances of fusion in North Carolina have improved.

It was stated at Populist headquarters, that they believed the Idaho fusion would be arranged so as to give Silver Republicans a share of the offices, and an equal interest in the campaign, the electors to be divided among the three parties. The national Populist committee, it was stated, will insist upon this, and will be joined in it by the Democratic national committee.

Chairman Babcock had a call yesterday from a friend who had wheeled all the way from Chicago to New York, and then to Washington. The young man is the son of a Republican leader in Chicago, and he took an interest in the political situation in the various states through which he passed. He told Mr. Babcock that he found Republicans united and solid in Indiana. The same condition existed in northern Ohio, but in the southern part of the state he found considerable silver sentiment among the Republicans. In Delaware and New Jersey the Republicans said they were sure to win. In western New York he found a good deal of silver talk, even among Republicans. Upon the whole, he reported the outlook very favorable.

Secretary Gardner of the National Association of Democratic clubs, yesterday, received applications for membership in the national association from 34 new clubs, Virginia heading the list, each application, without exception, is accompanied with the statement that the membership includes men who have heretofore been identified with the Republican party. Some of these letters also note slight disaffection from Democratic ranks, but say it is very much less than the accessions.

There has been a notable increase in the demand on Democratic headquarters for literature, particularly for Mr. Bryan's New York and Chicago speeches.

New Jersey, Mr. Gardner says, is actively engaged in the preliminary steps of club organizations, the showing in Hunterton and Hudson counties being especially strong.

Many inquiries were received today, in relation to the St. Louis club convention, as to railroad rates, hotels, etc. Fully 1000 clubs, it is stated, will send full delegations to this convention.

Big Demand For Bryan.

Upper Red Hook, N.Y., Aug. 22.—Every indication here has been toward what is a settled fact that Candidate Bryan expects and has been assured of eastern support. Letters continued to pour in yesterday, asking him to speak at eastern points, and if the requests were heeded he could spend the entire time from now until election day in New York state. Mr. Bryan showed no surprise yesterday at the newspaper stories that the Democratic state organization had decided to support him. He did reflect a little bit upon the statement that Senator Hill had told Mr. Danforth that he would support and work for him (Mr. Bryan). He said in relation to that question: "It is not Senator Hill's custom to speak through others, and I doubt if Mr. Danforth gave out a statement purporting to be made by Senator Hill. The senator will probably make his own announcement."

Palmer Didn't Say It.

Springfield, Ills., Aug. 22.—Newspapers yesterday printed a dispatch from Taylorville, stating that Senator Palmer had stated that "if no other candidate was nominated he should vote for McKinley, and would advise other Democrats to do the same." The senator was asked about the article in question, and he denied the statement in very emphatic terms. He claimed he never had any such interview with any newspaper representative. He did not say that he would vote for McKinley, and wanted it distinctly understood that he was not that kind of a Democrat.

New York Tailors.

The tailors have struck again at again, and, though they have often "won," their condition is not now appreciably better than it was ten years ago. The contractors agree to their terms and then gradually encroach upon their rights by increasing the daily stint of work under the task system until, though the nominal day's pay remains the same, the contractors get twice as much work for it.

Immigrants come who will work more hours for the same money, and then the day's work gradually becomes longer.—New York Journal.

WHAT ITS INTERESTS ARE IN PRESENT CAMPAIGN

Will a Radical Change In the Instructions to the Kings Benefit the People, or Will It Be Necessary to Completely Revolutionize Existing Systems?

[Special Correspondence.]

Here we are, entangled in the most singular and sui generis presidential campaign we ever had or that was ever seen on the face of the earth. Its immediate results may be completely negative or even pregnant with disasters. Yet this campaign of ours may mark the beginning of a revolution in our political system. Please remember that a revolution does not need to mean the conflagration of our cities or any wholesale or retail murder anywhere. The philosophic or reasonable meaning of revolution is "a revolt against social iniquities for the purpose of orderly establishing social righteousness."

The job in question, like every other, is subject to two processes—viz, the simple and the complex or the scientific and the empirical. The simple and scientific method means the line of least resistance, that along which certain results shall be attained with the minimum effort and in the shortest period. The complex and empirical system implies just the reverse—that is, the longest and most painful line of march possible to produce some given results.

The latter system represents the unfolding of all civilizations so far. It looks as if it was going to be long yet before men learn how to be sensible and scientific in the building up of nations. To be sure, as soon as that knowledge is obtained, progress, the real article, shall become a tangible fact instead of the sentimental fiction it has always been. For the present all we can expect from men is that they shall never again resort to brute force as a means to improve the race at large. Only the few can be improved through violence in any form. That is one of the most emphatic historical teachings which we should never forget. And what applies to violence applies to legalized injustice. Only the few can again improve under the latter; hence the need of our ascertaining what is essentially right for us to ingrain in law, if our object is to bring the upheaval of humanity and not that of any certain class of men, as has been the case in all previous revolutionary movements.

Leaving the above aside for a few moments, it can be easily noticed that the most important point in our present campaign is that it means the grouping of several millions of plain people grasping a certain specific idea and intending that it should be carried into law as a direct mandate from the people, and no matter what any number of legislators in legislative halls may see fit to think on the subject. The specific idea in question may be far from right or fundamental enough to bring any general good, but suppose it carried the day and became law, by the fiat of the people, the people would soon cancel it, to be replaced by a better one, because no bad law can be but very mischievous to the working masses forming the people, while every bad law, or nearly every bad one, is good to this or that group of men—good in the sense of giving them advantages over the rest. A bad law is necessarily a selfish one, embodying selfish human perceptions, and so tending to evolve the worst instincts of the cunning and the shrewd follows at the expense of the many who have not yet progressed enough to be shrewd and cunning and are still somewhat simple or honest, somewhat after the manner of God's laws in nature and in the ethical order.

After 40 centuries of misrule by the choice classes of society, not to speak of the ages before the deluge, the plain people can hardly be expected to have become great masters in the problems of legislation when their teachers have never as yet done anything but make the most dreadful blunders in all that appertains to the welfare of nations and in the realm of law. All that our teachers have ever done is to make wealth abundant among the few and scarce among the many, although it is the latter who have forever produced most of the wealth of nations. Speaking in general terms, civilization has created two classes — viz, wealth producers and wealth manipulators, giving to the latter most of the abundance created by the former, by the producers, who, with few exceptions, are condemned to live and die in poverty, in defiance of all that is right and orderly in the eyes of God and common decency.

Our present campaign is an emphatic protest against that fact, a protest backed by a certain specific popular mandate, virtually asserting the farce of legislation by delegated legislative bodies. It is yet a blind assertion, a mere rudimentary one, expressed in crude language, taking effects for causes, but very important with all its imperfections if the people adhere to the perception that they are by nature the only legislators of nations or social groups, large or small.

About 2,000 years of parliamentary experiments all over the world prove that delegated legislators become government by cliques of kings without the advantage of having a solitary king to be kicked out of his throne if he does not behave. The more kings we have the less we know which one is to blame. The individual hides himself behind the group, and the group behind any constitution good enough, perhaps, for the dead who wrote it, but far from sufficiently good for those living today. And what is that but political monopoly by which we negative all political freedom? And political monopoly must necessarily evolve economic monopoly in all forms up to the most transcendent and fatal ones, as is the case today and has been for many years. All because like begets like through time and space.

HOW TO DRINK WATER

Diseases Caused by the Too Sparing Use of Fluids.

Physicians say that too little fluid is taken, rather than too much, and the great benefit derived from treatment at mineral springs is often quite as much due to the amount as to the kind of water.

Many diseases are directly due to too great concentration of the fluids of the body and are to be counteracted by the imbibition of larger quantities, for a time at least. To have sufficient water present is the rationale of water cures, especially that form which prescribes the drinking of a cupful of hot or cold water half an hour before meals. This not only washes out the stomach; it furnishes the medium for the active secretions, ptyalin, gastric juice, etc., in quantity. On the other hand, excess lies in the path of this as well as other things, and what is a rule for one is not a rule for another. However, if one finds that the taking of a pint of water will relieve that sense of oppression and indigestion which sometimes occurs an hour or two after a meal, and that only favorable effects follow, the inference is that too little was taken with the food. There is not much danger of taking too much clear water.

The temperature of the water to be drunk is often a vexed question. This may be left to the individual, for the quantity taken (one-half to one pint) at any one time can have but little influence upon the temperature of the 14 pints of blood circulating rapidly about the 70 or more pounds of water in the tissues, which are maintained at a temperature of nearly 100 degrees.

For experiment two tumblers of ice water have been slowly swallowed and promptly siphoned out and found to have attained a temperature of 95 degrees in five minutes. It is true that it is possible to swallow ice water so rapidly and in such quantities that the stomach receives a momentary chill and disturbance sets in, but this is no reason why all ice water should be forbidden.

How Cloth Is Made Waterproof.

The process now in use among the Yorkshire clothmakers for waterproofing cloth is one that may be undertaken by private persons in their own homes and is as follows: Dissolve one ounce of isinglass in one pound of soft water, one ounce of alum in two pounds of water and a quarter of an ounce of soap in one pound of water, all separately. Strain the solutions, mix them and let them simmer for some time. Brush the preparation while hot over the cloth, and when dry brush it well and lay on another coat, all on the wrong side. The cloth will be fit for use in two or three days.

How to Make a Stained Glass Window.

If the artistic and thrifty housewife will save the colored glass bottles that find their way into her house and put them to use in the following manner, she will have something that will be a delight. Break the bottles into comparatively small pieces, and then, if a certain regularity is desired, cut the pieces into shape with a diamond pointed glass cutter.

Arrange these on a pane of plain white glass the desired size, using a little transparent cement to hold them in place, and a mixture of white cement and putty to imitate the lead that is used in expensive stained glasswork. The dull, rich olive of the claret bottle, the deep amber of the sherry, the delicious sea water green which is used for ginger ale, and the various shades of red and blue that one gets from the apothecary and the wine merchant are revelations when cleansed of their contents and held in single thickness against the light.

When the cement is dry, the window can be put in place, and as the sunlight strikes it she whose fingers have done the work will feel that it was well worth the trouble.

Organized Labor In Illinois.

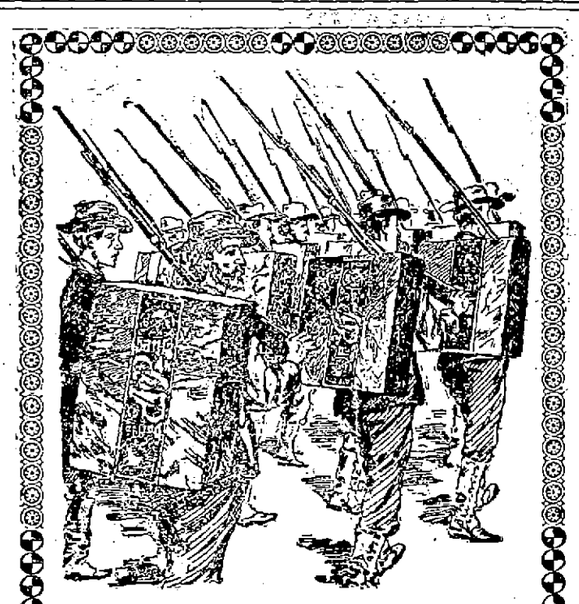

The total number of labor unions in Illinois is 763, with an aggregate membership of 100,750 wage earners. Of this number 309 organizations, with a numerical strength of 111,240, exist in Chicago. From official sources it has been ascertained that within the rank of this membership are 74,160 men who are heads of families, representing 370,800 persons in Chicago dependent upon them for support.

A woman's noblest work is helping a baby into life and health. She is committing a crime when she helps a sickly baby into the world. It is a crime because it is wholly within her power to make the baby strong and healthy. She can do it by the proper preparation—by taking proper care of herself during the period of gestation. Many babies die early, or at birth, or are sickly all their lives because of their mothers' ignorance or neglect. Neither is excusable.

Every woman may be strong and well, and so insure the health of her baby. If she will take Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription during the period of gestation, she will find that she will have none of the discomforts incident to this condition, and that parturition will be free from danger, and comparatively free from suffering. This medicine is the greatest remedy in the world for all the forms of weakness or disease peculiar to women. It is the only medicine of its kind prepared by a regularly graduated, experienced and skilled specialist in the treatment of diseases of women. It is the only medicine in the world that will make the coming of baby safe and easy. You can get it at the drug stores. If you want to know all about it, address Dr. R. V. Pierce, chief consulting physician to the Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute, Buffalo, N. Y.

All those who suffer from biliousness, headaches, heart-burn, flatulence, palpitation of the heart, and a generally sluggish action of the digestive organs should take Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets. They are tiny, sugar-coated granules. Forty in a little vial. One "Pellet" is a gentle laxative; two a mild cathartic. By druggists.

Work Only For the Homers.

The Gazette, a daily paper of Cedar Rapids, Ia., printed the following in a recent issue:

Workmen from other towns should be warned against coming here expecting to find work. This applies to skilled mechanics and laborers alike. There are enough resident mechanics and laborers who are citizens of the city to do all the work of the season. For three years these men have had light work and low wages. Now, when big improvements are on hand and work is plentier, they should have the advantage of the same. There will be lots of work here this year, but men from other places will make a mistake by coming here expecting to find plenty of work. The city already has many strangers here waiting for work.

THE BUSINSESS OUTLOOK.

Long Looked For Boom Has, as Yet, Failed to Show Itself.

New York, Aug. 22.—R. G. Dun & Co.'s weekly review says: Political events of the week had no definite influence upon business prospects, for the phenomenal variations in sterling exchange, and the beginning of imports of gold may be fairly attributed to the accumulating excess of merchandise exports over imports, to which attention has been repeatedly called, exports for the past two weeks having been 20 per cent larger, and imports here 21 per cent smaller than last year. The rapid movement of grain, and the unusually early marketing of cotton, tend strongly to aid the banking syndicate which has undertaken to regulate foreign exchange.

Speculation has advanced wheat over 1 cent during the week, corn a small fraction, and cotton ⅝, the principal motive power being reports of injury to growing crops. As before, the unfavorable accounts respecting wheat are in some measures discredited by the continued heavy movement from the farm. The movement of corn continues heavy, although the price is still so low that one wonders why the product is put into cars, instead of into hogs. The alarm about destruction of cotton has been most vigorously worked here and abroad, and has readily raised the price, although it is yet to be seen whether the yield has been so far diminished as to warrant a price nearly a cent higher than a year ago.

The boot and shoe industry, which continues to lead all others, in proportion of hands employed, is nevertheless rapidly nearing the end of past orders, except in women's grain and buff shoes, of which there are still orders for some weeks to come, while others are constantly received, but in other branches the new business is light. Prices are a shade weaker. Leather is weaker, and small demand, although restricted supplies have caused a shade of advance in some kinds. Hides, at Chicago, averaged more than 3 per cent lower for the week again, the fall in the past five weeks having averaged about 25 per cent.

Some additional heavy failures in the lumber trade call attention to the continuing depression which appears to result, at least in part, from expectations entertained by many that the unlimited increase in new building during the past year or two would be permanent.

Nothing encouraging can yet be said regarding the woolen manufacture, and the demand for goods, even at recent reductions in prices, is still disappointingly small. A heavy auction sale of cotton goods brought prices which were considered quite encouraging, and the current demand is fairly maintained, although the mills are not inclined to make large contracts in the future, in view of the rise in the raw material. In general the working force in the textile branches does not appear to have increased.

Failures for the week have been 280 in the United States, against 222 last year, and 27 in Canada, against 43 last year.

Another Bicycle Story.

Philadelphia, Aug. 22.—Information of a reliable character has reached here, that a syndicate of bicycle manufacturers has been formed, with the intention of wresting from the League of American Wheelmen the control of racing. It is the intention of the new combination to have a circuit, embracing cities where the greatest interest is shown in the sport. Control of a track will be secured in each city, or a track built. Men who ride, of course, will come under the ban of the League of American Wheelmen. As a compensation, they will be guaranteed good prizes, plenty of sport, and no effort will be spared to induce the "crackerjacks" to cast the league aside, and make the new scheme successful by their co-operation. Alleged arbitrary action, by the league racing board, is said to have brought about the break.

Wheel Records Lowered.

Salina, Kan., Aug. 22.—Several records were broken yesterday at the State meet of the League of American Wheelmen, Vesper, Bron and Hunt, the Kansas City triplet team, lowered the one-third mile track record from 39s. to 37 2-5s. "Reddy" Maxwell did a one-third mile in 38 3-5s., lowering the record from 39 4-5s. John Lawson, the "Terrible Swede," of Chicago, rode a mile, flying start, in 2m. flat.

Jews Not Allowed In Turkey.

Washington, Aug. 22.—The Turkish legation has received the following communication from the sublime porte: "We have been informed that a great number of Jewish families, who had emigrated from Russia to the United States, intend to establish themselves in Turkey. The access of the empire is expressly forbidden to the Jewish emigrants."

A QUEER STORY.

In Which a Careless Cashier and Bold Robber Figure.

Kansas City, Kan., Aug. 22.—An unknown thief entered the branch of the American National bank yesterday, during the absence of the cashier, and prying open a desk, secured $1000 in currency, or more, and made his escape. Two hundred dollars in silver was untouched by the robber. The act was most bold, and was apparently committed by some one familiar with the premises. E. R. Boswell, cashier and teller, opened the bank shortly after 9 o'clock. After counting several thousand dollars taken out of the safe, he remembered he had a message to deliver to a neighboring business house. He hurriedly returned the bulk of the money to the safe, and the rest of it to a drawer in the cashier's table desk. Across the hall from the bank sat J. R. Stoller, president of the Kansas City Live Stock Exchange. He was only a dozen feet distant, and Boswell felt safe in going out. Although he returned in at least five minutes the robbery had been committed without any one knowing it. The robber had come behind the railing, pried open the drawer, probably with a small bar, taken what currency he could easily carry, and carefully locking the drawer departed. The exact amount taken is not known, and may exceed $1000.

SPAIN'S TROUBLE

Another Rebellion Threatened in Her Domain.

JAPAN SAID TO BE INTERESTED IN MATTER.

Revolt in the Philipine Islands.

Madrid, Aug. 22.—An official dispatch from Manila announces the discovery in the Philippine islands of a Separatist conspiracy, the object being to secure independence from Spain. According to the official advices 21 persons have already been arrested in the islands, several being Free Masons. The news has caused great excitement in Madrid, and the police in consequence, last night, raided the Hispano Philippine club and seized a large quantity of papers. While commenting on the outbreak in the Philippine islands in the senate yesterday, Senor T. Castellano, the minister of the colonies, read several telegrams from the governor of the islands, Captain General R. Blanco.

These telegrams were to the effect, that conspirators aimed to secure the complete independence of the islands. Senator Montoro Rios declared that the Liberal party was prepared to support all government measures necessary for the maintenance of the Spanish integrity. Nearly all of the Opposition leaders in the chamber made similar promises.

[Madrid papers received in the United States contained frequent expressions, indicating that a revolt, in the Philippine Islands might be expected in the near future. It was even suggested by some of the papers, that Japan was endeavoring to foment trouble in that part of the Spanish possessions, for the purpose of extending the jurisdiction of her island empire over the Philippines. The Philippine Islands lie only about 250 miles south of the newly acquired Japanese possession of Formosa, a number of small islands intervening. Spain's army, in the Philippine Islands, is estimated at seven regiments of infantry and one of artillery, with a squadron of cavalry, the total effective force being 864 officers, and about 20,000 men.]

Found a Marble Mountain.

Tromsoe, Norway, Aug. 22.—Messrs. Trevor, Battye and Grawood, the last two being members of the Arctic expedition, headed by Sir Martin Conway, have returned in a little steam launch. It is announced that the results to geology and geography will be very valuable. Sir Martin Conway's expedition was the first to cross Spitzbergen from east to west. In the central portion of the island was found a vast system of glaciers and a magnificent ice plateau. The expedition also made a complete exploration of the Horn Round Tynd, a mountain in the southern part of Spitzbergen, nearly 5000 feet in height. They report that the Horn Round Tynd peak is composed almost entirely of marble.

The Transvaal Situation.

Cape Town, Aug. 22.—A dispatch from Pretoria says that the impartiality of the Jameson trial, together with Mr. Chamberlain's policy and friendly attitude, has produced a marked effect throughout the Transvaal republic. A month ago there was not a sign of any concession to the Uitlanders. Now the volksraad is passing progressive measures, while the expulsion of aliens bill has no chance of becoming a law. In conclusion, the dispatch says that there is no probability that the Boers will now assume an aggressive attitude. President Kruger is opposed to the expulsion of aliens bill.

England's Gold Outflow.

London, Aug. 22.—The Times this morning notes the fact that the Bank of England has slightly reduced the price of American eagles, so that they will go to America in preference to bar gold. The Telegraph says that it is evident, that the Bank of England is not disposed to encourage an excessive outflow of gold to the United States, although the price of eagles has been somewhat reduced, still the rates are high enough to check exports, The Telegraph says, except at a considerable profit to the banks.

One of Sewall's Ships Lost.

Rio de Janeiro, Aug. 22.—A dispatch from Santa Catharine says that the American ship Willie Rosenfeld, 2353 tons, Captain Dunphy, which sailed from New York on April 23, for San Francisco, recently foundered 400 miles from the coast. Part of the crew were landed safely at Santa Catharine, but 14 are missing. The Willie Rosenfeld was owned by Arthur Sewall & Co. of Bath, Me., where she was built, and from which port she hailed.

Will Treat Them Well.

London, Aug. 22.—The Stockwell orphanage, conducted by the Tabernacle founded by the late Dr. Spurgeon, last night arranged for an American tour for the members of the choir. Rev. Dr. Lorimer of Boston spoke, and promised that the choir would be accorded a hearty reception in America. Rev. Dr. Eaton of Toronto also spoke, and made similar promises for the people of Canada.

Trying to Drive a Bargain.

Pekin, Aug. 22.—Representatives of the Hong Kong and Shanghai chambers of commerce have informed Sir Nicholas R. O'Connor, envoy extraordinary and minister plenipotentiary of Great Britain, that they favor the raising of the tariff as China desires, according to the statements of Li Hung Chang, in exchange for the abolition of certain duties.

What Will They Accomplish?

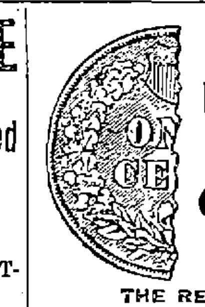

Habana, Aug. 22.—Reinforcements of the Spanish army are expected here shortly. These reinforcements consist of 670 infantry officers, and 34,328 privates, four cavalry officers, and 456 cavalry men, 34 artillery officers, and 1252 artillery men, 34 officers in charge of the engineering corps, and 1547 men belonging to the engineering corps.

La Bourgoyne Exonerated.

Cherbourg, Aug. 22.—The maritime court has decided that the French steamer La Bourgoyne is not to blame for the collision, which occurred in a fog, between herself and the Atlas line steamer Ailsa, both outward bound, near Fort Hamilton, New York bay, on Feb. 29, which resulted in the sinking of the Ailsa.

Awaiting Governor's Report.

Washington, Aug. 22.—The report of the governor of Louisiana, on the lynching of several Italians in that state recently, is expected at the state department in a day or two, and probably will form the basis of further action by this government in the case.

Northern Pacific Improvements.

Chicago, Aug. 22.—The Northern Pacific road is about to enter upon the work of reducing many of its grades, with the view of decreasing the cost of the operation of the road. By lessening the grades it will be possible for the road to haul train loads very much larger than at present. It is said that the Great Northern hauls trains 50 per cent larger than those on the Northern Pacific, and the latter proposes to so improve its property that it will be on a level with its competitor.

Lawyers at a Banquet.

Saratoga, Aug. 22.—Chauncey M. Depew last night presided at the banquet of the American Bar association, which was enjoyed by about 260 distinguished personages, in the Grand Union hotel ballroom. Mr. Depew, as toastmaster, made some brief opening remarks, and offered as a toast, "the Lord Chief Justice of England," which was responded to by Lord Russell. The next toast was "The American Bar association," which was replied to by retiring President Storey of Boston, under whose administration was held the most successful and celebrated meeting in the history of the association. Sir Francis Lockwood responded to "The wit of the English bar." James M. Beck of Philadelphia, James C. Carter, and Bourke Corkran of New York, were also called upon, and their utterances rounded out one of the most famous banquets ever held at Saratoga.

Alleged Offer Was Absurd.

Washington, Aug. 22.—Treasury officials know nothing about the report that an American syndicate has offered the Argentine republic $150,000,000 in silver for $100,000,000 4 per cent gold bonds, and regard it as a wild invention. In the first place, the terms of the offer are preposterous. If silver bullion to the value of $150,000,000 is meant, the syndicate would be making the Argentine republic a present of $50,000,000. If the coinage value is meant, the bargain would be equally bad the other way. There is no American syndicate which can command either that much silver or that much capital for Argentine bonds.

The Way Is Open.

Washington, Aug. 22.—The state department has forwarded to Spain the petitions for pardon addressed to the Spanish government by friends of the men arrested on board the Competitor. The letter accompanying the documents says nothing as to the position of this government in the matter. State department officials say, however, that if Spain wants to settle the question with dignity the way is open.

Wednesday will be occupied by a visit to Brooklyn, on the invitation of the mayor of that city, and in the evening the viceroy will be tendered a review by the Seventh regiment in its armory. Thursday the party will go by the Pennsylvania railroad to Philadelphia, where suitable entertainment will be provided; and Friday and Saturday will be spent in Washington; and Sunday at Niagara Falls, where the viceroy will be met by representatives of the Canadian government, who will escort him to Vancouver, from which port he sails for home.

Creditors Find Fault.

New York, Aug. 22.—Leopold Weil & Co., importers of and dealers in jewelry, have failed. Their liabilities are estimated at $126,000. The principal creditor of the firm was Joseph Frankels Sons, manufacturing jewelers, 68 Nassau street, to whom was owed about $50,000. Finding themselves pressed by their creditors, the members of the firm transferred merchandise, book accounts and other assets to Joseph Frankels Sons. There was no assignment. Mr. Greenbaum criticised the failure as "one by transference." Strenuous objections are expected from other creditors to this action.
